Plan for Parking At Palmer House Draws Heavy Fire

A number of Princeton residents have asked for a public hearing on the Borough's plan to provide 45 daytime parking spaces at Princeton University's Palmer House.

In a letter to Borough Council, the residents stated their objections to the construction of a parking lot on the grounds of Palmer House, which is located on the corner of Nassau Street and Bayard Lane.

The signers asserted that there has "apparently been no public hearing on this project, which by its very nature is highly controversial and deserving of discussion in the open. We are left to conclude that a 'backroom deal' has been struck, and we vehemently oppose this type of behavior as it flies in the face of due process and the spirit of public trust."

The letter was accompanied by a petition opposing the construction of the lot. Signed by more than 100 persons — almost all from Princeton and most from the western section — the petition stated that it was "inexcusable to take one of the few remaining green spaces in Princeton and pave it."

In late May, Mayor Barbara Sigmund announced that the Borough would lose the 95 parking spaces in the Maclean Street lot because the lot would be closed awaiting construction of 28 affordable housing units.

The spaces, however, would be replaced by 45 spaces at the rear of Palmer House and 50 at Merwick. The Mayor praised the "high degree of cooperation among Princeton institutions" that resulted in a parking plan that will be "much more convenient to downtown employees and residents."

The lot at Palmer House would be open weekdays from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., she said, and

Driver Killed When Car Strikes Tree Tuesday on Princeton-Kingston Road

A 49-year-old driver was killed Tuesday morning when his car struck a tree head-on on Princeton-Kingston Road between Shady Brook Lane and Dodds Lane.

Although he had a New Jersey driver's license, the victim was identified by Township police as Albert A. Sektman of Chestnut Court, Bensalem, Pa. Mr. Sektman, who was alone in the car, was pronounced dead at 8:17 at Princeton Medical Center.

The victim was heading north toward Kingston, probably for Merck in Rahway where he was employed, when his car left the roadway about 7:40. The front end of his 1988 Ford Thunderbird sustained extensive damage.

According to Lt. Anthony Gaylord, a witness behind the car observed the accident. The initial police investigation at the scene revealed that apparently the victim had been reaching down to get something, Lt. Gaylord said.

Members of the Princeton First Aid Squad and Fire Department were at the scene within minutes. Sgt. David Cromwell, the Township's traffic safety officer, is continuing the investigation.

The accident fatality is the first in the Township since November 29, 1989 when an elderly Mercer Road resident was struck and killed as he crossed Mercer from his mailbox to his home.

Vic Brungart of 6 Greenholm, a member of Engine Company No. 3 on Chambers Street, was driving down Snowden toward Route 27 when he heard the report of an accident in front of 964 Princeton-Kingston Road on

Institutions, Individuals Both Struggle Under Uncertain Future of Sewer Ban

The sewer ban imposed by the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority on October 25, 1988 and the uncertainty as to when it will be lifted is making life difficult for big institutions like Princeton University as well as for individual homeowners and businesses.

Last week, the SBRSA reviewed a request by the University to reallocate previously approved flow reservations to allow construction of the Center for Jewish Life and to expand the Engineering School. The SBRSA approved the request for the Engineering School expansion, because previously approved CP1 applications were involved, but it took the position that the Jewish Life Center was a new application, even though the University was asking to use flow reservations from previously approved projects that it now wishes to delete.

The University was told to file a new CP1 form for the Center for Jewish Life, which was placed on a waiting list with some 22 other applications ahead of it. The University has already had a concept review with the Planning Board for its plans to remove a small building at Washington Road and Ivy Lane and replace it with the 17,000-square-foot center and had hoped to break ground on the project by the end of the year.

Single family homes and special categories fare better under the SBRSA exemption guidelines. At last week's meeting three single family exemption requests were reviewed as well as a request which would allow toilet facilities at

Court Upholds ETS On Renting Space In New Buildings

Educational Testing Service has won another round in its effort to construct new buildings and rent out space it won't be needing immediately.

The Appellate Division of Superior Court upheld the ruling of Mercer County Superior Court Judge Paul G. Levy a year ago that Lawrence Township's "single user" ordinance was "discriminatory and invalid." The ordinance was adopted in 1988 on the recommendation of the Lawrence Planning Board and the urging of neighbors in an effort to prevent ETS from leasing part of its property.

ETS challenged the validity of the ordinance on the grounds that a limitation on occupancy is an improper use of the zoning power. When Judge Levy ruled in favor of ETS, a group of residents calling themselves the Carter-Rosedale Defense Organization appealed the decision. Their attorney, Neilsen Lewis,

SUMMER SCENE: Evening band concerts on the village green are a summer tradition in many American towns. Princeton's village green is in Palmer Square where the terrace in front of the Nassau Inn makes a perfect stage, and the lawn in front of the Post Office an ideal sitting area. The Blawenburg Band, celebrating its 100th anniversary, played Sunday evening for the pleasure of residents who gathered on lawn chairs and blankets. (Linda Prospero photo)

THIS GRASSY LAWN adjacent to Palmer House is scheduled to be the site of a 45-space parking lot. It would hold about half the cars that will be displaced from the Maclean Street lot when that lot is closed to await the construction of Borough affordable housing. The plan has become the center of controversy, with more than 100 persons signing a petition against it.

Palmer House

there would be no parking at night.

Since then, several letters have appeared in TOWN TOPICS highly critical of the plan. Those signing this most recent letter are Hank Abernathy, Bloxom Baker, Nancy Baker, The Right Rev. Mellick Belshaw, Betsy Belshaw, Pauline Egan, Susan Levy, Elizabeth Lustenader, Jim Lustenader, Elizabeth Meirs and Priscilla Russel.

They state that, even though the land targeted for the parking lot is not within a Borough historic district, the fact that it abuts an historic property dictates that it should be treated as one.

"The back of Palmer House is not an historic issue. Until recently it housed a swimming pool and tennis court. It is not the original lawn of Robert Stockton," said Mayor Sigmund Tuesday morning.

"The entire lot behind the wall is invisible from the street," she continued. "The property behind the wall has not been usable green space for the people of Princeton."

Mrs. Palmer's Will

The letter to Borough Council also cited a stipulation in Mrs. Palmer's will permitting the property to be used only for University purposes or those of its corporations until 1993.

Other points of concern raised in the letter include increased traffic on Route 206; the fact that Palmer House is in a residential zone; and the statement that the lot doesn't appear in the Borough's master plan.

The writers questioned the Mayor's stated reason for building the lot: the loss of parking spaces on Maclean Street. "The merchants could," the letter states, "indeed park in any number of other locations until a more suitable solution than destroying a historic property can be found. In our judgement, the reason for the sudden urgency surrounding construction at Palmer is primarily to get the work done while residents are on summer vacation, thereby minimizing the public outcry."

Mayor Sigmund pointed out that Mayor and Council are charged with the good of the whole community. She said that the Borough is very close to reaching a settlement with Ocean County Superior Court Judge Eugene Serpentelli which will necessitate building houses on the Maclean Street lot.

"For the good of the town as a whole, we can't allow the 95 cars presently parked on the Maclean Street lot to wander around town looking for parking spaces that don't exist," she said. "I really see no other piece of ground near enough to the center of town and owned by the University, besides Palmer House, that would make the parking plan workable."

The Mayor noted that she and Council President Marvin Reed had been meeting with residents of Boudinot Street and Morven Place. "These streets worry most about heavy traffic impact," she said. "Both [Borough Police] Lt. Peter Hanley and I checked with the State DOT. We could, under their rules, make Boudinot one way if it would be helpful."

She added that they had also met with the owner of the Peacock Inn about having employees use the Palmer House lot during the day. This, she said, would remove employee cars from Boudinot Street.

argued that the new buildings would bring unwanted commercial development and additional traffic into a residential area and renting to tenants would exacerbate these effects.

The Lawrence Council did not join the appeal, but decided instead to negotiate a settlement with ETS that would include an amendment to the single-user ordinance which would allow the company to rent to other educational institutions. Last month the Lawrence Council tentatively approved a settlement agreement, but the amendment has not been put to a formal vote.

When it is, the vote to approve will have to be a two-thirds majority, or four of the five council members rather than a simple majority, because the Carter-Rosedale Defense Organization and other property owners within 200 feet of the EP (Environmental Protection) ordinance have filed a protest against the amendment.

The Lawrence Council postponed a special meeting in which the ordinance amendment was to be voted on because township officials and ETS officials could not agree on the percentage of space that would be rented. The issue came up in a discussion of what was meant by the term "principal occupant."

ALEXANDER STREET BRIDGE SPAN IS IN: Work in replacing the Alexander Street Bridge continues with the placement last week of these steel girders over the Delaware-Raritan Canal.

E-3/E-4 Zoning Expected to Be Approved, Ending a Summer of Hard Work for Council

The long, drawn-out, complicated and contentious task of creating a new educational zone in Princeton Borough — E-3/E-4 — appears to be drawing to a close. Council last week reintroduced the E-3/E-4 ordinance, and it is expected to be approved at a public hearing scheduled for August 9 at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

The purpose of the ordinance is to limit and define the amount and scope of development on the three campuses that adjoin residential neighborhoods. These are Princeton University, Princeton Theological Seminary, and Westminster Choir College.

Reintroduction of the zoning ordinance — first introduced in June and then sent to the Regional Planning Board for review — was necessary because Council accepted a number of Planning Board changes to the original ordinance. Substantive changes to an ordinance require reintroduction. The municipal governing body, however, also rejected several of the Planning Board's recommendations.

The original ordinance contained a provision requiring that the existing parking spaces north of Williams Street within the E-3 district should continue to be provided. These University spaces are used by the community during evenings and weekends. The Planning Board recommended this provision be eliminated; the Borough chose to keep it in the ordinance.

TOPICS Of the Town

Rejected by Council

The Planning Board recommendation to prohibit parking garages on the University campus west of Olden Street was also rejected by Council.

Another Planning Board recommendation was that the University eating clubs along the north side of Prospect Avenue be eliminated from the E-3 zone. Councilman Mark Freda moved to reject this suggestion, but his motion did not receive a second. The affected clubs will not be in E-3, but will remain in the E-2 zone.

To Councilwoman Lucy Mackenzie's comment that the Planning Board's concerns were not with the eating clubs, Mr. Freda responded, "My concern is with the entire area. Who owns the buildings can change."

An effort to reduce the 340,000 square feet, including parking garage, permitted in the Engineering Quadrangle, failed to generate mucb support from the governing body. Its partisans were — as they had been for quite a while — Mr. Freda and Councilman Roger Martindell.

Concern Over Height

Some members of the audience voiced concern that the addition to the engineering building would be 13 to 15 feet higher than the present structure. This differential, however, would be taken up by a penthouse, which is permitted to occupy only 20 percent of the floor area at the top of the building.

James Britt, the attorney representing the University, pointed out that, in concept reviews before the Planning Board, there were no suggestions that this height differential be modified.

A number of Planning Board recommendations were accepted by Council and will be included in the revised ordinance.

Among these were the requirement that the applicant for laboratory use submit a detailed environmental study documenting compliance with standards of the ordinance. Also, an escrow arrangement would be established so that the reviewing board could retain an independent environmental consultant to review the applicant's submission and all other relevant information.

Council also approved the exclusion of the Seminary's Spear Library from the E-4 zone, and the 60-foot setback of the materials science building from the McKim, Mead & White gates on Prospect Avenue.

Two New Buildings

The University currently plans to construct two buildings in the Engineering Quadrangle — the materials science building, in front of the McKim, Mead & White gates, and the addition to the engineering building. These total 105,000 square feet. In addition, it plans to build a 140,000 square-foot garage next to the materials science building.

The two buildings plus garage add up to 245,000 square feet, leaving the additional 95,000 square feet permitted by the ordinance to be built at a later date.

University Vice President Robert Durkee had said earlier that there were no immediate plans to utilize the rest of the square footage permitted in the Engineering Quadrangle.

It is anticipated that ground will be broken for the new structures in the fall. Construction should take about two years.

No Appeal Procedure On Nassau Street Light

The State Department of Transportation has informed Borough Mayor and Council that no formal procedure exists for appeal of the DOT decision not to remove the traffic signal from Nassau/Chestnut/Olden Streets.

This light has been the subject of much controversy, with several area businesses complaining that it has led to a loss in business. Another concern voiced by a number of residents was that the light caused an increase in traffic congestion on Nassau Street.

In a letter to Borough Council President Marvin Reed, P. Norman Deitch, Manager of the DOT's Bureau of Traffic Engineering and Safety Programs, said that an analysis of current conditions at the location of the light indicates that the signal has produced an enhanced level of safety at the intersection.

Mr. Deitch pointed out that traffic counts have shown that motorists in the area have increased their use of the side street approaches in order to take advantage of the benefits which the traffic signal provides in entering or crossing Nassau Street.

"Naturally," he wrote, "there is also an enhanced level of safety for pedestrians who now have the means to interrupt the traffic flow on Route 27 by utilizing the pedestrian push buttons which have been provided. Along with these benefits, the accident experience at the intersection has decreased since the traffic signal was placed in operation."

Design Contract Okayed For Witherspoon Street

Borough Council last week approved an $83,400 contract with Leoncavallo & Bautsch, P.A., Toms River, for the design of Witherspoon Street and other sections of the Central Business District.

Deadline for completion of the Witherspoon Street design is October 1. Under the terms of a $170,000 grant promised by the State of New Jersey, the work on the actual reconstruction of the street must go to bid this year.

Borough Engineer Carl Peters said he hoped to get an extension from the State on this. If one is not given, however, the October 1 design deadline will allow the Borough to abide by the terms of the grant.

Work is scheduled to begin on Witherspoon Street, from Nassau to Wiggins, in late spring or early summer of next year. Other streets to be reconstructed — after Witherspoon is completed — include Palmer Square East, from Nassau to Hulfish; Palmer Square West, from Nassau to Hulfisb; Palmer Square South, from Palmer Square East to Palmer Square West; and Chambers Street, from Nassau to Paul Robeson Place.

The Witherspoon Street project will include road reconstruction; curb replacement, with either concrete or granite; and sidewalk replacement, when needed. The Borough may elect to install a pigmented concrete sidewalk similar to that on Nassau Street.

Pedestrian ramps will be provided at all street intersections and other crosswalks, and there will be brick crosswalks at some locations. The specific locations have not yet been determined. New street lamps on Witherspoon Street will be the same as the recently installed ones on Nassau Street.

Four Homes Entered Last Week in Township

Four homes were entered last week in the Township, two on Princeton-Kingston Road.

Taken from a home on Princeton-Kingston Road, which was entered through an unlocked door between 9:30 in the morning and 12:30, were silverware, silver items and jewelry including a string of pearls. No one was home at the time. Value, according to Lt. Anthony Gaylord, is "in excess of $4,000."

Taken sometime during a six-day period from another Princeton-Kingston Road home were silver flatware from a chest in the kitchen and approximately 15 pieces of antique jewelry. There were no signs of a forced entry.

Lt. Gaylord reported that the house had not been ransacked. Police, he added, have not yet received a value of the missing items. When asked, he said the two entries were "possibly related."

A new home in the final stages of construction on Arreton Road was entered last week by way of a basement window. Once inside, the intruders made off with cartons containing a lighting fixture valued at $2,200 and a $300 Casablanca ceiling fan.

Rings and other items of jewelry worth approximately $1,500 were stolen last week from a home on Terhune Road while it was unoccupied in the afternoon.

Although no signs of a forced entry were evident, Lt. Gaylord said that marks on a door suggest that the intruder may have slipped a lock using a knife or similar instrument.

Three Youths Are Sought For Robbery Attempt

Three youths are being sought by Township police in connection with last weeks' strong-arm robbery attempt against a 32-year-old John Street resident.

The victim, who does not speak English, was struck in the eye with a three-foot piece of yellow plastic that, police said, resembled a kid's plastic baseball bat.

Sought are three black males, one 5-5, 15 to 17, wearing a white shirt and shorts. Two others fled on bicycles; one is described as short, heavy set, 14 to 15, wearing a black or blue shirt with a white emblem, the other as about 13, wearing a brown shirt.

According to police, the victim left his home around 10 Friday evening to make a telephone call. As he walked to the telephone booth, he was approached by two persons. Returning home, he was approached again by the same two, now accompanied by a third youth. The three stated they wanted the victim's watch and money.

When the victim acted as if he didn't understand, he was assaulted by two of the youths with the piece of plastic while the third attempted, unsuccessfully, to take his watch and money. Police said when the three saw the victim had sustained an injury to his right eye and was bleeding, they fled.

Because of the language barrier (the victim speaks Spanish) police were not notified of the incident until the next day. With the aid of an interpreter police were able to reconstruct what happened.

Women's Clothing Stolen From Nassau St. Store

Twenty-three articles of women's clothing valued at $3,180 were shoplifted Thursday afternoon from a Nassau Street clothing store.

"There have been no arrests but we do have a suspect," said Lt. Peter Hanley. He described the suspect as a black female in her mid-30s, 5-6, wearing a red blouse and print skirt. Her hair was in a bun. Lt. Hanley declined to identify the store.

A day later, a women's $225 dress was shoplifted from a clothing store on Witherspoon Street. There is no suspect in that theft.

There were two wallet thefts in the Borough last week. An employee in an office in Templeton Hall on the Theological Seminary campus left for a short period of time Friday afternoon and when she returned she discovered that her wallet was missing. She lost $35 cash; her wallet was valued at $50.

The same day, in the morning, an employee in a Nassau Street office left her purse unattended. A thief grabbed her wallet containing $1 in change and credit cards but no cash. The victim valued the wallet at $40.

While the 1979 sedan of an East Windsor resident was parked last week along side Henry Hall on the Princeton University campus, someone took the car's stereo speaker and booster worth a combined $55. Although the victim told police the car had been locked, police said there was no forced entry.

Township police report that a 1990 Honda CRX was broken into while it was parked overnight in a lot in Princeton Community Village where the owner lives. Taken was a JVC AM/FM cassette and CD player valued at $600. Police said after an apparent unsuccessful attempt to pry open a window lock, the thief smashed the window. The theft was discovered Monday morning.

Crossing Guards Needed

With the opening of school a little more than a month away, Borough police have issued a call for school crossing guards.

Salary is $19 a day for an average of 1½ hours of work: 45 minutes in the morning from 7:45 to 8:30 and 45 minutes in the afternoon from 2:45 to 3:30. Eleven school crossings are covered.

Those interested should call Lt. Peter Hanley at 924-4141 or stop by police headquarters in Borough Hall to pick up an application.

Three Bikes and a Wheel

Three bicycles and a bicycle wheel were stolen last week, Borough police report.

A locked, 21-speed mountain bike valued at $450 was taken overnight from a stairwell in Spelman Hall on campus; an unlocked, 10-speed Schwinn model was taken Sunday from the side of a house on Olden Street, and a Raleigh mountain bike worth $110 was stolen from in front of a store on Nassau Street where the victim had left it — unlocked — for 15 minutes.

The Schwinn bike of a Princeton resident was secured with a chain in front of the Public Library Saturday but that didn't stop an enterprising thief from removing the front tire and wheel. Cost to the victim: $50.

Car Thief Is Nabbed After Taking a BMW

Borough police were able to solve two car thefts and two entries into motor vehicles with the arrest early Friday morning of a Borough resident.

Michael J. Loff, 21, of Berrien Court, has been charged with two counts of auto theft, two of burglary and theft from a motor vehicle and possession of stolen property. He has since been released in $2,500 bail set by Judge Russell W. Annich, waiting possible action by a Grand Jury on the charges.

As recounted by Lt. Peter Hanley, a 24-year-old Somerset resident, visiting on Cleveland Lane, heard a noise in the driveway at 3:45 in the morning. Looking out a window, he saw his $14,000 1986 BMW being driven away (the car had been unlocked and there was a spare key in the glove compartment.) Called to the scene, police checked the area and found the car parked near the Maclean Street parking lot.

Declining to be specific, Lt. Hanley stated that the course of the police investigation led police to Loff's home on Berrien Court, where he was arrested. Inside, police found items that had been stolen earlier from parked cars.

In addition to the stolen BMW, Loff was charged with the June 7 theft of a $25,000 Toyota van from a Hodge Road resident. The van was later recovered. He was further charged with stealing stereo equipment, stereo equalizers, cameras and a radar detector from cars parked on Boudinot Street and Library Place.

Workman Is Charged In Campus Incident

A resident of Kentucky, working for a contractor on the Princeton University campus, has been charged with three offenses after he was arrested for attempting to force open a soda vending machine in Wilcox Hall.

Michael Goodin, 28, of Middlesboro, has been charged with criminal attempt of a theft, criminal mischief and with possession of a burglar tool, a tire iron. He is scheduled to appear in court on Monday.

Goodin was observed at the soda machine at 11:30 Friday night by University proctors, who detained him until police arrived.

Lt. Peter Hanley said that Goodin has not admitted to two similar thefts and has not been charged with those.

Between 11 a.m. the previous morning and 9:30 Friday morning, two change-dispensing machines had been pried open.

Approximately $42 in change was taken from a machine in 1903 Hall, and about $11 in change from a dispenser in Dod Hall.

Hiroshima Survivor To Speak at Two Events

Setsuko Thurlow, a survivor of the atomic blast in Hiroshima, Japan in 1945, will speak at 45th anniversary commemorations to be held in Princeton Sunday at 6:30 at the Institute for Advanced Study, located off Olden Lane.

Ms. Thurlow will speak in Trenton on Monday, August 6 at a noon vigil to be beld on the Statehouse steps. Both events, which are sponsored by the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament, are free and open to the public.

Ms. Thurlow was 13 years old when Hiroshima was hit by an atomic bomb. She later immigrated to Canada, where she became a social worker and a member of the Canadian peace movement. She has spoken on peace and disarmament issues throughout Canada and the United States, as well as in Europe.

The annual Princeton Hiroshima/Nagasaki memorial event will be a family affair. Participants are encouraged to bring a picnic dinner to the lawn behind the Institute for Advanced Study, where musicians Heidi Freemer and Pam Braunsberg will begin the evening with folksongs. Throughout the evening, children can participate in making paper cranes, a Japanese peace symbol.

Township Mayor Kate Litvack will open the event. Phil Sosis of Clearbrook will read a poem composed for the occasion.

The commemoration will close with a candelight ceremony. Children will light candles and set them afloat on the Institute pond. Modeled after ceremonies held in Japan, the floating candles are a remembrance of those who died at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, as well as a symbol of peace.

Raindate for the Princeton event is Monday. For more information, call the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament at 924-5022.

Farmers' Market Hours Cut

Beginning Friday, hours at the Farmers' Market will be 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., instead of 10 to 6. Also, the market has shifted its location from the back of the Nassau Inn to the green in front of the inn.

The market will continue to be open on Fridays only.

Among the offerings this Friday will be tomatoes and sweet corn, in addition to an assortment of summer fruits and vegetables.

ton, who, police said, claimed he was acting in self defense, sustained a broken hand; Tab Still, 33, of Birch Avenue, the other combatant, received a contusion of the eye.

According to police, an argument broke out between the two around 10 in the evening and it escalated into a fight. No reason for the fight was given.

Charges Are Pending In Broken Booth Window

Charges are pending against two rock throwers who were apprehended last week by police.

Township police responded to a call last Tuesday evening in which a resident in the area of lower Witherspoon Street reported seeing two persons throwing rocks at a phone booth, breaking some glass. Police nabbed a 20-year-old adult and a 16-year-old juvenile, both Princeton residents. "The two claimed they were throwing rocks and accidentally hit the glass," Lt. Anthony Gaylord said.

The passenger window of a 1984 Plymouth was shattered by an unknown object last week while it was parked on the street in front of the owner's home on South Harrison Street.

The contents of the car were intact, police said, but damage was estimated at $300.

Development Proposed For Historic Property

Plans have been filed with the Planning Board for development of the 15-acre Maybury Hill property off Snowden Lane.

The developer, Witherspoon Properties owned by Marvin Suomi of Princeton Junction, would like to subdivide the property into 11 lots of about four-tenths of an acre each, plus the lot containing the existing home, and an area of wooded open space. The developer plans to renovate the 258-year-old farmhouse, which was damaged in a fire and has fallen into disrepair over the years. The sale of the lots are expected to pay for renovations to the historic house.

According to Mr. Suomi's attorney, Thomas Letizia, no variances are required to implement the plan under existing ordinances. However, the property is in a Township historic district, and the application for subdivision and site plan approval would require special review by the Township Historic Preservation Commission as well as the Site Plan Review Advisory Board of the Planning Board.

A concept review of the proposal by the Planning Board is tentatively scheduled for September.

Baseball Card Swap

The Public Library will hold a baseball card swap for children on Wednesday, August 8, at 3:30 p.m. Susan Pollock of Princeton Sports Corner will offer tips on caring for and improving collections. Young collectors may bring their own cards for trading after the program. To register, call 924-9529 or stop by the Children's Department in the Library.

Maybury Hill was the home of Aaron Hewes, a mason whose son Joseph, born there in 1730, became a member of the Continental Congress and signer of the Declaration of Independence from North Carolina. The older part of the house was of stone, 30 feet square, with an adjoining stone kitchen. In 1768 Richard (Derrick) Longstreet purchased the property and superimposed a Georgian facade on the two early wings of the house.

Pennington Man Fined For Resisting Arrest

In Borough court Monday, Leopold Starzynski, 127 Franklin Avenue, Pennington, was fined $225 and $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board for resisting arrest.

Michael J. Loff, 2 Berrien Court, charged with five counts of theft and two of burglary, was arraigned before Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. and had his papers sent to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office.

In traffic court, John R. Nichols, 10 Sergeant Street, was fined $515 and lost his license for 90 days for driving while his license was revoked. On two other violations he was fined $20 each for unlicensed driver and unregistered vehicle.

Philip M. Gottlieb, Madison Drive, East Windsor, was fined $515, driving while on a revoked list, and $60 for speeding. Anthony Vocolo, 14 Larkspur Lane, Lawrenceville, paid $20, unlicensed driver.

Governor to 'Lobby Hard' For National Convention

Gov. Jim Florio, at a meeting of the National Governors' Association in Mobile, Ala., said that he would lobby hard to convince the association to hold its 1992 summer meeting in the Princeton area.

The Governor said that having the conference in New Jersey in two years could be a big boost to the state.

He has proposed housing the governors, their staffs and guests in three area hotels: the Hyatt Regency, Scanticon, and Marriott.

Gov. Florio said it was obvious that officials regard the conference as very important for economic reasons. Alabama Gov. Guy Hunt has been quoted as saying the conference could inject $7 million into the local economy.

A New President Named For Rutgers University

Dr. Francis L. Lawrence, the academic vice president and provost of Tulane University in New Orleans, has been named the new president of Rutgers University He expects to take office in early October.

Dr. Lawrence, who has been academic vice president and provost and dean of the Graduate School at Tulane since 1982, was chosen after a five-month national search by a university committee made up of students, faculty and administrators. As Rutgers' 18th president, he fills the position left open by the sudden death of President Edward J. Bloustein, who died December 9, 1989.

Dr. Lawrence, 52, is a native of Woonsocket, R.I. He received a bachelor's degree in French and Spanish from Saint Louis University, in St. Louis, Mo., in 1959 and a doctorate in French classical literature from Tulane in 1962.

Since then, he has held several positions at Tulane, including those of professor of French, chnirman of the department of French and Italian, acting dean of Newcomb College, assistant vice president for academic affnirs, and deputy provost.

As chief academic officer ot Tulane, Dr. Lawrence administered a budget of about $100 million and was responsible for the administration of the neademic program, research for the undergraduate colleges of liberal arts and sciences, the Graduate School, nnd the professional schools of lnw, social work, business, architecture and engineering.

In the past eight years, Tulane has strengthened its support for faculty efforts by increasing salnries, research funds, endowed chairs and funding for innovntive interdisciplinary teaching programs at the undergraduate nnd graduate levels.

While at Tulnne, Dr. Lawrence established n task force to study gender-based pay equity issues and another to develop a five-year plnn to increase black student enrollment. Since 1982, undergraduate minority enrollment at Tulane rose from 11.6 percent to 16 percent.

He initiated planning and supervised the realization of the Educational Resource Center, which offers peer tutoring, skills workshops, a learning laboratory, supplemental instruction and summer bridge programs for freshman minority students.

He is the author of the book, Moliere: The Comedy of Unreason and has written and edited numerous volumes and articles on French literature. A former president and vice president of the AAU's Association of Graduate Schools, he is also an educational associate of the Institute of International Education.

In 1977 he was decorated chevalier by the Palmes Academiques and received the John H. Stibbs award, given by the Tulane Student Senate for outstanding service to students, in 1977 and 1985.

The enhancement of undergraduate education and the recruitment of more minority faculty and students will be among his highest priorities, Dr. Lawrence said.

He also stressed communication with all university groups. "I plan to work hard to make sure a dialogue takes place with all constituencies so that everyone is heard, so that everyone understands exactly what the university needs to do to move ahead," he added.

Free Events Listed At W. Windsor Gazebo

Jonathan Sprout, star of stage, screen and radio, will be the featured performer at a free concert Friday evening beginning at 7 p.m. in the gazebo near the West Windsor library.

The show is designed for children from 5 to 12 years old, but those younger, and the entire family will find it entertaining. Mr. Sprout has appeared on the "Captain Noah Show," CTN's "It's Storytime" and NBC's "Three Stories Tall." He also has made a number of records and cassette tapes.

The Rick Fiori Quintet, a jazz group, will give a free concert at 6 in the same location. Both concerts are sponsored by the West Windsor Recreation Commission.

Mr. Fiori and his orchestra have played weekly at the Scanticon Conference Center for four years as well as other locations in central New Jersey. The program will include rhythm and blues of Duke Ellington, Cole Porter and Count Basie, among other selections.

The audience is asked to bring chairs or blankets as well as to picnic. In case of bad weather, call 799-6141 after 3 p.m. to learn the status of the concert.

THIS VAN NEEDS DRIVERS: The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross has this new van to transport elderly and handicapped individuals to medical appointments and medical therapies. It can take eight passengers and is equipped with a hydraulic lift for people in wheelchairs, demonstrated by Doris Harper, director of social services, and Bob Forbes, volunteer transportation coordinator. However, the van won't become fully operational until at least a dozen volunteers are recruited and trained to drive it. Anyone willing to devote a minimum of a half day per month are urged to call 924-2404. Also, individuals or corporations wishing to help fund the program should send checks to the American Red Cross, Princeton Area Chapter, 182 North Harrison Street, marked Transportation Services.

Lake Mercer Nature Walk Set for Tuesday Morning

Naturalist Jim Ruch will lead a nature walk along Lake Mercer on Tuesday morning beginning at 8 a.m. Sponsored by the West Windsor Park Planning Committee, the walk, which should last about 45 minutes, will include the identification of numerous birds, flowers, trees and wild life.

During a recent walk, Mr. Ruch observed four green herons; five great blue herons, each three-to four-feet tall; a four-foot egret; some belted kingfishers, some pigeon hawks; families of ducklings; and cormorant ducks.

There is no charge for the walk and everyone is invited. Sneakers and slacks are suggested. Binoculars would be helpful.

Walkers should meet before 8 a.m. at lakeside at the end of South Post Road on the opposite side of Mercer Lake from the boat house. Follow South Post Road from where it intersects with Village Road West, past Conover Road, APAW, and straight to the lakeside parking lot.

Donations Accepted For Medical Center Sale

Donations for the 72nd annual art, antiques and rummage sale, sponsored by the Auxiliary of The Princeton Medical Center, will be accepted at the Princeton House storage facility on Herrontown Road, off Route 206, from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, August 4,11, 18, 25, and September 8, as well as Tuesday, August 21 and 28 and September 4 and 11. Donations will also be accepted from 6 to 8 p.m. on August 28 and September 4.

Items needed include small appliances, books, clothing, furniture, jewelry, toys, sporting goods, hardware and holiday decorations. All donations must he in good, usable condition and are tax deductible. No textbooks, magazines, mattresses, tires, or large electrical appliances can be accepted.

For further information, to volunteer, or to arrange for large item pickup, call 497-4191.

The sale will be held Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23.

Summer Blood Drive Planned by Groups

The Outer Circle Ski Club and the American Red Cross, Princeton Area chapter, will hold a summer blood drive on Thursday from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, Route 1.

As summer blood inventories are low, drive coordinators strongly urge healthy individuals between the ages of 17 and 65 to donate blood. To schedule an appointment, call Jim Moffatt at 520-9858. Walk-ins are also welcome.

Free Demonstration Set Of Canning and Freezing

A free canning and freezing class will be held at Terhune Orchards Tuesday, at 10:30 a.m.

Pam Mount, owner of Terhune Orchards, will demonstrate step by step the methods she uses to can and freeze fresh fruits and vegetables. Freestone peaches are now at their peak and, preserving them for the winter is fun and easy. For those who are on a special diet, Mrs. Mount will give tips on preserving fruit to fit their requirements. There will be a drawing for a basket of Terhune Orchards peaches.

The class is free and will be held outside under the maple trees. Advance registration is requested. Call 924-2310.

Bad Hay Fever Season

The 1990 hay fever season is expected to be heavy throughout the eastern seaboard. This is due to the past three years of beavy rains and the lack of burning up of plants, which has produced a very healthy crop.

August is the beginning of the pollen and hay fever season. The pollen season will run into September or the early part of October, or until the pollen depletes itself. By the 15th of August the pollen counts should reach irritating levels and probably reach their peak during Labor Day week. The counts could very well go into the 200's. Pollen counts are expected to be similar to the ones last year. They may be a little heavier if weather conditions are favorable to the plants.

Storyteller Evening At the Public Library

Princeton Public Library will present storyteller Jeannine Laverty in concert on Thursday, August 9, at 7:30 p.m.

The performance is cosponsored by the Princeton University Storytelling Residency, a program for adults interested in an intensive week of storytelling study, and is open to adults and children 7 years old or older. Free tickets are available at the Library or may be reserved by calling 924-9529.

Ms. Laverty discovered the power of storytelling while teaching English as a second language in Manhattan in 1972, when she realized that the desire to hear and tell stories about themselves, their families, and their culture kindled interest in using the new language among her Chinese- and Spanish-speaking students. This experience led her to develop her present repertoire of folk and literary tales from all over the world.

Ms. Laverty has told stories in schools, state parks, prisons, art and conference centers, colleges and inns. She has been a featured storyteller at New York State's Artpark as well as storyteller in residence at Sagamore Conference Center in Raquette Lake, N.Y., where she regularly conducts workshops for adults. She is a member of the National Association for the Preservation and Perpetuation of Storytelling.

Calendar Is Available Of County Park Events

The Mercer County Park Commission's August Calendar of Events is available.

The fair will take place from 10 to 5 at the Hopewell Elementary School, Princeton Avenue.

Reading, Study Skills At YWCA Programs

The YWCA is offering two new personal living skills programs in its summer line-up. They are Rapid Reading and Study Procedures, both led by Martin J. Connolly, president of Academia, Inc., an education consulting service.

Rapid Reading teaches adult readers how to increase their reading speed and comprehension using a "memory tree" memory-aid technique. The program says that with pacing methods, students will be able to double their reading speed by program's end. The course is offered on Saturdays in a three-week session, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., August 4-18.

Study Procedures helps high school and college students master subject matter. Timing and goal-setting techniques are used to learn more in less time. A note-taking and memory system will help assure mastery of the material. This program is scheduled for two Saturdays, August 18 and 25.

For more information, call 497-2100.

Sewers

the renovated Grover Park and Hilltop Park. All were approved by the SBRSA, because they fall within the SBRSA/DEP guidelines for granting exemptions.

Two of the single family homes are on Littlebrook Road and involve replacing an existing home or constructing a new one. The third involves a guestroom/playroom addition to a home on Farrand Drive. SBRSA guidelines say that an exemption may be granted to single family homes requiring no more than 400 gallons per day of sewage treatment capacity, but the home must be on an existing tax lot and must be able to connect to an existing sewer line.

The SBRSA can also recommend to the DEP that it grant exemptions for reasons of public use (the Johnson Park School addition), health (such as a failing septic system), remediation of some existing, possibly polluting condition, and building replacement when it can be demonstrated that the replacement will use substantially less water than the original.

The Ramada Inn on Route 1 has been seeking an exemption on the grounds that it will install low flush toilets and require 8,246 fewer gallons of sewer treatment capacity. Its request was approved by the SBRSA for recommendation to the DEP in February but denied by the DEP in April. On the other hand, the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Hightstown Road, received approval for its addition in June, possibly because much less gallonage — 228 gpd — was being sought.

The Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Nassau Street, has just received DEP approval, having had its original exemption request turned down last December.

are the four "upstream" members of the SBRSA, all sending their sewerage flow to the River Road treatment plant, where the ban is in effect. Hopewell Borough and Township and Pennington send their flow to two small "downstream" treatment plants, where capacity still exists and there is no ban.

Analysis of Capacity

The monthly meetings of the SBRSA begin with an analysis of capacity at all three treatment plants and a sewer ban status report. Last week, for instance, members learned that the 12-month average flow at the River Road plant was continuing to come down from the all-time high last March of 9.3 million gallons per day to 8.8 million gallons per day. Half that amount comes from the two Princetons, the other half from West Windsor and South Brunswick, with South Brunswick contributing about twice as much as West Windsor.

The total committed flow, including inoperative flow (projects with reserved capacity but not built), stands at almost 12 mgd. Plant permitted capacity is 10 mgd, so the plant is technically running at nearly two mgd above capacity, or nearly 20 percent.

A glance at the list of exemption requests that have been processed since the ban went into effect show many more requests from the two Princetons than for West Windsor or South Brunswick, although both West Windsor and South Brunswick have more than twice as much reserved inoperative gallonage as the Princetons together.

At the time the sewer ban was imposed, it was felt that the plant could be re-rated to 10.8 mgd by the Department of Environmental Protection without any additional construction.

Stricter DEP regulations with stiffer potential penalties and a new manager at the SBRSA who had served in the DEP prompted the Authority to take another look at the plant operation and suggest several plant improvements. These improvements, plus the decision to increase the sludge burning capacity of the plant to generate additional revenue, required additional financing.

Bond Issue Opposed

A proposed bond issue was opposed by the two Princetons, partly out of concern for sludge burning and partly to prevent additional development and traffic in the area. In addition, delays in obtaining approval of water quality management plans at the local and then county level further stalled the SBRSA's ability to apply for a re-rating of the treatment plant.

Having undertaken a number of improvements to upgrade the treatment plant, the Authority plans to seek a re-rating to 11.4 mgd, which would ease the sewer ban situation somewhat, but not by a lot if the total committed flow is at 11.9 mgd as reported last week. According to John Gaston, executive director, the Authority has asked its consultant to review plant operation in terms of capacity and expects to file that report, along with all the other necessary papers with the DEP by December.

One of the still missing pieces is an approved Mercer County Water Quality Management Plan. A public hearing on the plan is scheduled for Wednesday, September 12, at the Mercer County Planning Board. The Northwest Princeton Residents Association is planning to be present to object to the inclusion of the DeMenil-DKM tract on Pretty Brook Road in an area to be sewered.

Disagreement on Flow

And a disagreement has arisen between the Princeton Sewer Operating Committee and the SBRSA executive director John Gaston involving flow projections and anticipated I and I removal in the Princeton plan (I and I stands for infiltration and inflow, or excess water getting into the sewer system).

Mr. Gaston maintains that the SOC is understating the sewage flows for the Princetons by about 500 mgd and is overly optimistic in expecting it can remove 48 percent I and I.

Martin Dorward, SOC executive director, summarizes the disagreement as a difference in averaging — whether averaging on the long term over several years as the consultant was asked to do or on a 12-month basis as the SBRSA is required by the DEP. Mr. Dorward also says the SOC is committed to a 48 percent I and I removal and will continue working on the problem until that is achieved.

Whether these differences, and objections by residents will hold up approval of the Princeton Water Quality Management Plan and in turn the Mercer County plan is not yet clear. Several developments such as the Ettl and Cadle tracts are awaiting approval of the Princeton plan.

Accident

his fire company beeper. Mr. Brungart is a CPR instructor and had just been requalified on Saturday by the Red Cross.

"When I arrived I didn't see anything but the car against the tree. As a volunteer fireman I was concerned about fire but I didn't smell any gas," Mr. Brungart recalled. "I saw the driver was in deep, deep trouble. When I got to him, he had a slight pulse. Very slight. He was very weak. Blood was coming from his mouth and you could tell his chest was crushed. I knew he wasn't going to make it."

With the aid of Ptl. John Seeley, Mr. Brungart pulled the victim out of the car and tried to give him CPR. "I tried to keep him going," he said. Mr. Brungart said he was aided in his effort by a girl he knew only as Karen from the YMCA.

The victim, Mr. Brungart said, was not wearing a seat belt. "That was the problem. If he had been, I think it would have saved him." He added that the victim had earphones on and was listening to a portable cassette player. "I think he leaned over to pick up another cassette."

Parts of the car landed 50 feet from the tree, evidence of the force of the impact. Police report there were no skid marks.

"I just hope something good can come of this," said a shaken Mr. Brungart.

Another Driver Hits Tree

Last week, another driver struck a tree on Princeton-Kingston Road, two-tenths of a mile from Poe Road.

The driver, Sarah G. White, 68, of Trenton was taken to Princeton Medical Center for treatment of lacerations of the head. Her 1987 Buick was demolished. Ms. White told Ptl. Peter Savalli that as she was driving she remembered she heard two "bumps" and then hit a tree.

A witness directly behind the White car told the officer that she saw the car drive onto the shoulder and back to the road four or five times before the accident. Another witness, two cars behind, reported seeing the car drive off the roadway onto the shoulder and back at least twice before the accident. Neither saw the car's brake lights come on.

Police measured 156 feet of tire marks along grass lawns prior to the impact with the tree in front of 748 Princeton-Kingston Road. A mailbox, two boxwood plants, a blue spruce and some 75 feet of lawn were damaged.

There were no charges. Police said their investigation revealed that the driver apparently fell asleep. The accident occured last Wednesday at 12:24 p.m.

Delaware & Raritan Canal Commission Reviews 15 Years of Accomplishments

Fifteen years after the first official meeting of the Delaware and Raritan Canal Commission in March, 1975, the Commission has issued a report which reviews its mandate from the state legislature and assesses its accomplishments to date.

The law, which created the D&R Canal State Park in 1974, described four tasks for the D&R Canal Commission set up to oversee the park. The first was to prepare a master plan which was to be a "composite of one or more written proposals recommending the physical development and expansion of the park." The first edition of the Master Plan was adopted in 1977, and a second edition in 1989.

But there are other documents which the Canal Commission considers part of the Master Plan because they "forge a concept of the Canal Park and a vision of the development projects that could make the concept a reality," as the report puts it. These include a Design Guide, adopted in 1980, an Historic Structures Survey, adopted in 1982, a Historical and Recreational Development Plan, and a Development Guide, both adopted in 1985.

A series of public hearings was held in 1986 to discuss the Development Guide, which summarized plans for canal park development. From those meetings came "virtually unanimous support for the Commission's planning ideas," according to the 15-year report.

In addition to the planning documents, the Commission has issued reports which cite lands that it recommends as additions to the park. Of the 3,000 acres that the Commission recommends be added, nbout 1,000 have been acquired. The remaining lands "await adequate funding," the 15-year report notes.

Coordinate Many Agencies

The second task assigned to the D&R Cnual Commission by the state legislature was to develop and administer a program which wonld coordinate the actions of the vnrious state agencies whose decisions impact the park. This included reviewing any state project planned or state permits issued in the park.

Among the state agencies involved in the canal park nre the New Jersey Wnter Supply Authority, which manages and sells the wnter within the canal; the Pnrk Service, which mnnages the park land ns n recreation and natural area; and the Department of Transportation, which is responsihle for the more than 40 bridges over the canal. All must get approval lrom the Canal Commission for the projects involving the park.

The 15-year report cites the 1984-85 dredging of the canal as nn example of how the Commission's nuthority to review state agencies and projects in the pnrk works. The Wnter Supply Authority had determined lhat the canal might become totally hlocked with silt nnless 650,000 cubic ynrds were excavated over a 32-mile length of the canal The Canal Commission staff spent nbout 2,000 hours reviewing plans for this project and overseeing the construction phases, the 15-ycnr report stntes.

The Comnission rejected n proposal for digging a trench in the middle of the historic canal, leaving shnllow ledges several feet wide on either bank, which the Water Authority's consultant said would be the easiest way to restore water flow to the necessary level. The Commission felt that these ledges would soon fill in and permanently narrow the canal.

Controversial Clear-Cutting

The 15-year report does not recount how, when an alternate plan was put into effect, Princeton became very upset by the clear-cutting of trees along the towpath between the Millstone aqueduct and the Lake Carnegie dam. The clear-cutting was necessary to install a stabilizing wall inside the towpath emhankment, which is very narrow at that point, to prevent its collapse by differences in hydrostatic pressure between the canal and the lake.

The report says that the Commission insisted that the dredging contractor enhance the park in several ways to compensate for the disruption, loss of trees and other problems arising from the work. It lists the projects that were completed at the Water Authority's expense, paid from money raised through the sale of canal water. Among them were the creation of 6½ miles of recreational trail, creation of six new parking areas, and reconstruc-

Canal Clean-Up on Sunday

In an effort to rekindle the spirit of Earth Day 1990, the Nature Company will sponsor another clean-up of the D&R Canal on Sunday, starting at 9 a.m.

According to Mike Jones, Nature Company manager, the Canal has again been "tarnished" with debris and litter. "We chose the Canal to refocus people's attention on the fragile state of our local natural areas," Mr. Jones said. "In addition, we'd like to rekindle that spirit of community awareness and involvement that existed on Earth Day to remind people that Earth Day was not solely a media event, Earth Day is every day."

More than 100 volunteers joined the Nature Company and the Whole Earth Center at the April 22 cleanup along the Canal, picking up more than 400 hags of debris along the towpath from Kingston to Alexander Road. Since then, the Nature Company has sponsored a cleanup along Lake Carnegie and plans to sponsor additional projects throughout the year.

Volunteers interested in lending their support to the clean-up should meet at the canoe rental in the D&R Canal State Park in Kingston Sunday at 9 wearing gloves. Garhage bags will be provided.

For additional information call Mr. Jones at 683-8222.

D&R Canal

tion of 2,000 lineal feet of embankment stone.

The report assigns an estimated value to these projects and includes them in the Commission's claim that although it has received about $2 million in appropriations from the state in the 15 years, it has caused more than $5 million worth of improvements to the canal park at no additional cost to New Jersey taxpayers.

Some of these improvements came about as a result of the Canal Commission's mandate to review construction projects in the area surrounding the park. The report cites an agreement reached with Trap Rock Industries in 1988. In order to expand its quarrying operation in Kingston, Trap Rock needed to remove an existing road and replace it with a new road along the canal.

Trap Rock Improvements

The Commission granted approval in exchange for a list of improvements ranging from a landscaped berm separating the canal park from the road to the donation of additional land along the canal to the park and the creation of new recreational facilities. Trap Rock estimates the total price for these improvements to be $2.5 million.

The Canal Commission began reviewing construction projects in the region surrounding the canal park in 1980. The review program set standards for the management of stormwater runoff for all areas that drain into a stream that flows into or under the canal park. It also established guidelines for reducing the visual and ecological impact of projects that are proposed for any site within 1,000 feet of the canal.

According to the 15-year report, the Commission's stormwater management standards were the first in New Jersey — and among the first in America — to address both flooding and water quality. These standards have subsequently been adopted as statewide standards by the Department of Environmental Protection as well as by a number of municipalities and counties. The report states that studies conducted by the Rutgers Water Resources Research Institute have shown that the standards have been effective in reducing pollution from stormwater runoff and have also resulted in lower flood levels on the Millstone River.

The report goes on to say that the guidelines for reducing the visual and ecological impact of projects near the park have not always been as successful. It cites a major housing devclopment in West Windsor (known to be Canal Pointe, but not specified as such in the report), which was built in compliance with the regulations but is still visually obtrusive from the park.

Stiffer Regulations

As a result of this project, and because the phenomenal rate of development in central New Jersey in the 1980s had several unanticipated effects on the park, new regulations were adopted by the Commission in 1989 and 1990. The new regulations strengthen the guidelines for visual impact and address the impact from new roads and from development proposed for the corridor of any stream that enters the canal park.

The report notes that the Canal Commission has had "tremendous" success in bringing local governments and nonprofit organizations into the process of enhancing the canal park. It lists a number of projects by various organizations to improve the park. In the Princeton area they include the Lawrence Historical Society restoration of the Port Mercer bridge-tender's house, the Griggstown Historical Society's restoration of the mule-tender's barracks, which it operates as an interpretive center; and the five canoe docks built by the Boy Scouts, who also cleared a mile of trail in the Port Mercer area.

In addition, the Sierra Club is proposing to erect 30 interpretive signs at access points along the canal park. And the Canal Commission has worked with historical societies in Lambertville, Titusville, Griggstown and East Millstone to establish Nationally Registered Historic Districts in those communities.

The report concludes by noting that "Fifteen years after it was created, the Canal Commission has done everything that the legislature asked of it and more." It identifies three subjects it wants to pursue in addition to the mandated duties. They are to improve the canal park as a wildlife habitat; to enhance the park's ability to serve as an historic site by improving interpretation of its historic function; and to protect the park more effectively from the impact of increased traffic by developing a network of "scenic roads" alongside the park.

Finally, the report points out that in the 15 years since the Canal Commission was established, the cost of living has more than doubled and the annual expenditure of state money has more than tripled, but allocation given to the Commission has only increased by 15 percent.

Says executive director James Amon, "Our pride of accomplishment is accompanied by a serious fear that we will not be able to continue unless we receive more money."

Money. As in loans. You see, right now, loans from medium to extra-large are on sale at NJNB. For a limited time, we're offering a special low rate, when monthly payments are deducted from your NJNB checking account.

That means payments can be as low as $235.80 on a $15,000 10-year loan. What's more, in most cases, we'll approve your application within 24 hours. And if you choose a loan based on the equity in your home, you could enjoy tax advantages,* too. Pretty good return policy for a sale item, wouldn't you say?

So if you want to modernize your kitchen, pay for a college education, or finally buy your dream car, call 1-800-542-5626, ext. 621, weekdays 8am-8pm, Saturdays 9am-1pm. Or stop by any branch.

And take advantage of NJNB's loan sale, before we're "sold out."

News of Clubs and Organizations

Internat'l Center Friends Elect Next Year's Officers

Friends of the International Center of Princeton University have elected officers for the coming year. Irene Wynne, a long time supporter of the Center, was elected president. Other members of the board include, Elize Wright, vice president, Sheila Siderman, secretary and Deborah Robbins, treasurer.

The International Center, located in Murray-Dodge Hall, has been a vital part of the University and the community since 1978. Each year nearly 1,000 foreign students and scholars representing 80 countries come to Princeton. The Friends and other volunteers help the international guests integrate into the community and the American way of life.

Programs and activities sponsored by the Friends include English conversational tutorials in which volunteers meet weekly on a one-to-one basis with students requesting assistance. The Host Family Program matches foreign students with area families for the opportunity to have informal contact and share family activities.

Lunch, open to all students, is held each Thursday at the Center. The focus is on socializing between foreign and American students and the opportunity for friendships and cultural exchanges.

The Center, under the direction of Paula Chow, sponsors the annual International Spring Festival, arranges for international speakers for schools, TV and radio, provides translators and interpreters in the community and presents special music and cultural events.

Anyone interested in assisting the Friends may phone the International Center at 258-5006.

Board Members Selected For Princeton Ballet

Arnold C. Gasche, a 25-year resident of Washington Crossing, Pa., has been elected president of Princeton Ballet's Board of Trustees for the 1990/91 fiscal year.

Mr. Gasche, a registered professional engineer in New Jersey and retired Naval Reserve captain, was manager of Mobil Technical Center in Pennington. He has been a Princeton Ballet board member for three years and served on the Development Committee.

Other officers include vice presidents David Cayer of Plainfield and Esther Novak of East Brunswick; treasurer Nancy MacMillan of East Windsor and secretary Jan Buck of Princeton.

Newly appointed board members are Polly Moles of East Windsor, chairman of publicity for the Princeton Ballet 1990 "Reflections" Gala; Carolyn McQuade of Lawrenceville, director, Information Services, of Johnson & Johnson Consumer Products, Inc. in Skillman; and Pam Targan of Northfield.

Newly appointed honorary board members are Ruth Crawford and Rachel Gray, both of Princeton.

Princeton Skating Club Recognizes Achievements

At the annual meeting of the Princeton Skating Club, club members were recognized for their achievements during the past season.

The Kenarny Award, presented to the most improved skater, was awarded to Christina Fitzgerald, of Cranbury. The most improved skaters in the individual disciplines were Ann Gendezak, of Lambertville (figures); Jennifer Schaufler, of Pennington (freestyle); and Abby Bilanin, of Princeton (dance). An award was given to the Most Improved adult skater, Jane Williams, of Plainsboro. Also receiving recognition, as honorable mentions for the adult award, were Marie Eck of Belle Mead, Emi Godwin of East Brunswick, and Walli Fitzgerald of Cranbury.

On Sunday, September 30, the Princeton chapter of Deborah will sponsor a bus trip and tour of Deborah Hospital in Browns Mills. The bus will leave Princeton at 9:30 a.m. and return around 3:30 p.m.

A film, luncheon and tour of Deborah Hospital is scheduled. The cost of $12.50 per person includes a donation to Deborah.

Call 921-8237 or (201) 359-0862 for information or bus sign-up.

Double Features Listed At Kresge Auditorium

Little Vera, thc film that startled the Soviet Union beeause of its revealing look at glasnost will be shown this Wednesday and Thursday in the Summer Cinema '90 series. it is paired with The Little Thief, based on a concept by the Inte Franeois Truffaut.

Summer Cinema films are shown in the air-conditioned kresge Auditorium in the Frick Chemical Building on Washington Road. Little Vera runs on Wednesday at 7:15, with The Little Thief at 9:30. On Thursday, The Little Thief shows at 7:30, nnd Little Vera at 9:30.

Little Vera, marking the debut by director Vasily Pichul, zooms in on the seamier side of life in an industrial town in the Soviet Union. Sex, drugs, vandnlism nnd rock 'n' roll tumble to the surface ns Pichul records n eomplete breakdown within a typical working class family. Vera (Natalyn Negoda) is a shaggy-haired, lusty, willful high school dropout who stokes herself with gin and pills, fights with her alcoholic truck-driver father and her hapless overeating mother, struggling for affection and survival in a bleak landseape.

Little Vera sold 50 million tickets in the USSR, ereating great controversy for its frank sexual scenes. But its real shock waves come from its unblinking look at the empty, desolate quality of life among ordinary Soviets, in its depiction of the Soviet family as a erumbling wreck. The film is a revelation of deep and apparently endless depair at the heart of what used to be known as the worker's paradise.

A Truffaut Concept

The Little Thief stems from a coneept by the late Francois Truffaut, who before his death in 1984, had written a brief seenario for the story of Janine, a neglected, spirited, imaginative adolescent of the 1950's. He had invented the character years before, as Antoine Doinel's eompanion in The 400 Blows, but had cut the charaeter from the film. Little Thief is not really Truffaut's last, therefore, but stands on its own as a charming and insightful work directed by his longtime associate, Claude Miller.

In a touching performanee, Charlotte Gainsbourg stars as Janine, a lost lamb trying desperately to be grown up and independent, and daring to be bad as her search for love leads her to a life of petty crime.

Summer Cinema continues Friday through Sunday with Spike Lee's Do the Right Thing and Alan Parkers' Mississippi Burning. Do the Right Thing is scheduled to run on Friday and Saturday at 7:30, with Mississippi Burning at 9:40. On Sunday, Mississippi Burning shows at 7:15 and Do the Right Thing at 9:30.

Do the Right Thing is a skillful, buman and richly detailed film about racism in New York, a comedy that ends in tragedy. Producer-director Spike Lee deals with the events of one day on one block in Brooklyn's Bed-Stuy section, events which leave one man dead and a neighborhood destroyed. Populating the street are hip-bopping local types, including three funky philosophers, two senior citizens (Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee) the hyped-up Buggin' Out, the stuttering Smilcy Radio Raheem with his boom box, and the ubiquitous Mookie (Spike Lee himself) who delivers pizzas for the film's whites: Sal (Danny Aiello) and his sons (John Turturro and Richard Edson).

These profanely eloquent street people criss-cross throughout the hottest day of the year, and the explosion that occurs at Sal's Pizzeria stems from a combination of heat, insensitivity, and stubborness which turns into rage.

Fictionalized Version

Mississippi Burning is set in the summer of 1964, and one knows from the opening scenes that the story is a fictionalized version of the murders of Chaney, Schwerner and Goodman, the three civil rights workers who "disappeared" until their bodies were found buried in a dam near Philadelphia, Miss. Chris Gerolmo's screenplay deals with the two FBI agents sent to Mississippi to investigate the disappearance of the trio, but Alan Parker's film is also a war story — the war the FBI waged against the entrenched Mississippi racists, a cabal of lawmen, Klansmen and good old boys fighting a last-ditch battle against change.

Agents Ward (William Dafoe), a by-the-book idealist, and Anderson (Gene Hackman), a former small-town Mississippi sheriff, also have their own battle to fight — over tactics and philosophies. Ultimately, Ward lets his scruples drop for the sake of results and in the rousing and vengeful finale, the FBI uses its own arsenal of dirty tricks to bring the culprits into federal court.

TEMPTATIONS: Champagne and napoleons will be featured at an after theater party Saturday night following the performance of "The Temptation of Maddie Graham" at the George Street Playhouse in New Brunswick. Bucks County playwright Phyllis Purscell, author of the comedy, left, samples the hors d'oeuvres by caterer Arlene Turner, center, with Vicki Krampf, member of Princeton Rep business committee. Tickets for the show and champagne reception are available at $25 per person and may be ordered by calling (201) 246-7469.

Children's Matinees For 'Twelfth Night'

Princeton Summer Theater has scheduled two Sunday matinees of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night which are specifically designed for children.

With the help of the entire cast, director Rob Melrose will give a brief synopsis of the play at 1 p.m. this Sunday and next, August 5 and 12, at Murray-Dodge Theater. The performance begins at 2. Mr. Melrose will also do a review after each intermission.

Twelfth Night is a comedy, and this fact is particularly stressed in Princeton Summer Theater's production. Each role has been brought to life with the practice of improvisation, mime and vocal exercises. Many of the actors have been trained and have performed at children's theater companies.

Prices for the special matinees are $5 for youth and $7 for adults. Box office hours are 11 to 6 Tuesday through Sunday. Call 258-4950 for reservations and information.

Other showtimes are August 2 to 5 and 7 to 12 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $7 on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday and $10 on Friday and Saturday.

Musical 'Gypsy' Planned By Franklin Villagers

Gypsy, the musical by Arthur Laurents, Jule Styne and Stephen Sondheim, will be presented in Somerset by the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre beginning Friday, August 10, at 8:30 p.m.

Performances will continue through September 2 on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. Based on the memoirs of the famous "lady stripper" Gypsy Rose Lee, this show was a hit when it originally opened on Broadway in 1960. The current revival won a Tony Award and has been extended, with Linda Lavin taking over the starring role of Rose from Tyne Daly.

"Everything's Coming Up Roses," "Together Wherever We Go," "If Momma Was Married" and "You Gotta Get a Gimmick" are among the songs made famous by this musical fable. Villagers veteran Pat Powers will take on the role of Rose, the domineering stage mother seeking vaudeville stardom for her young daughters. Ms. Powers was the Editor/Millworker in the Villagers recent production of Working as well as Mme. Dindon in La Coge oux Folles and Dotty Otley in Noises Off.

Sharon Coyle plays Louise (Gypsy), her daughter turned stripper. Karen Pierson plays June, the daughter Rose raised to be a star. Playing their younger counterparts, Baby Louise and Baby June, are Tania Maria Lyons and Kathleen McCaffrey. Herbie, the genial candy salesman who befriends Rose and helps to manage the act, is played by John DeMarco.

The east also includes Victoria Adams, Jon Ballek, T.J. Barranger, Beth Boisier, Greg Brooks, Richard Chouinard, Nicholas Coviello, Stacie Dicksheid, Maureen Egan, Karl Jacobsen, Andrew Kotula, Russell MacKinnon, Donato Minnella, Michael Paternoster, Ian Scheller, Jonathan Shandell, Beth Schroeder, Bill Smith, Elyse Wolf and Sheila Wolf.

The cast is under the direction of Barbara Mann Stuart, who is joined by musical director Tom Pilecki and choreographer Tracey Fama.

COMBO HOLIDAY, an eclectic group playing a wide variety of instruments, is part of the five-act bill at the Summer Sounds '90 concert this Thursday in Community Park North. The free concert begins at 7, sponsored by the Recreation Department and the Arts Council.

MUSIC

Five Performing Groups Free at Summer Sounds

Summer Sounds '90 will present five different performing groups in a free concert this Thursday in the amphitheater in Community Park North. The concert starts at 7, and in case of rain will be moved indoors to the Loft Theater at the Arts Council building.

The perfomers are Seiler and Beckerman, local songwriters and performers; Peter Spencer, who plays folk, country & blues and has years of experience on the touring circuit; Combo Holiday, playing music featuring accordian, steel guitar, ukulele and electric base; the Cackling Crows, featuring members of Three Colors, the Rollins Band, the Fusionaires and Random Joe and the Strillards; and Matthew Sweet, fresh from playing bass for Lloyd Cole's European tour and a former member of the Golden Palominos.

Summer Sounds is sponsored by the Arts Council and the Recreation Department and is made possible by grants from the Chocolate Cat and the Princeton Youth Fund.

For more information call 924-8777.

Free Outdoor Concert Friday in Woodlot Park

The final concert in a series of outdoor performances sponsored by the South Brunswick Recreation Department will feature Molasses Hill, a group whose repertoire includes country standards, country rock and modern country pop.

The concert will be held Friday at 7 in the outdoor amphitheater at Woodlot Park on West New Road in Kendall Park. Molasses Hill is composed of four members who play a combination of guitar, pedal steel guitar, bass, drums, fiddle and banjos.

The audience is invited to bring lawn chairs and also a picnic. Alcoholic beverages are not permitted in the park. In the event of rain, the program will be held inside the Community Center, located in the same park complex.

For further information call (210) 297-4433.

Westminster Conservatory Sets Fall Registration

Westminster Conservatory of Music, the community music school of Westminster Choir College, will hold fall registration for new students starting Wednesday, August 1.

The fall semester will begin the week of September 10 and will include classes and private instruction for all ages and levels of ability. Classes and lessons will be held this year at three locations: Westminster Choir College in Princeton, Our Lady of Sorrows School in Mercerville, and St. Ann's School in Lawrenceville.

The Conservatory offers private lessons for children and adults in most instruments including brass, woodwinds, strings, piano, harp, organ, harpsichord, guitar and voice. Musicianship classes which cover ear training, sight reading and theory are an integral part of the program. Other classes include music literature, jazz piano, opera appreciation, piano literature, chamber music, community orchestra, Alexander technique and voice class for adults.

For younger children Kindermusik, musical explorations, Suzuki piano and strings and vocal training for young singers will be offered.

To register or to receive further information call the Conservatory main office at 921-7104, extension 260, the Mercerville office at 584-1825 or the Lawrenceville office at 883-2128.

Big Band Concert

The Benny Snyder Orchestra under the direction of Art Martin, will present a free concert Saturday at 7 at Mercer County Park, West Windsor.

The performance is part of the "Music in the Park" series presented by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission during July and August.

The concert will be held near the ice rink at Mercer County Park. There is no reserved seating. In the event of rain the concert will be held inside the rink.

For further information call the Cultural and Heritage Commission weekdays at 989-6899. For more information the day of the concert, Mercer County Park at 586-8090.

The Cleveland Quartet In Richardson Concert

The Princeton University Summer Chamber Concert Series will present the Cleveland Quartet in concert this Wednesday, August 1, at 8 at Richardson Auditorium in Alexander Hall. Admission is free. Picnicking is allowed, and encouraged, on the grass behind Alexander Hall before the concert.

The concert is the last in the 1990 Summer Chamber series. The program will begin with Mozart's String Quartet in D Minor, No. 421, followed by the String Quartet in A Minor by Schubert. Following intermission, the Cleveland Quartet will perform the String Quartet in A Minor, 51, No. 2, by Brahms.

Now in its third decade, the Cleveland Quartet is recognized as one of the premier string quartets of our time. The members of the Cleveland include William Preucil and Peter Salaff, violins; James Dunham, viola; and Paul Katz, cello.

The artists perform on a matched set of Stradivarius instruments which were made between 1696 and 1736 and which once belonged to Paganini. Sold individually after his death and separated for nearly a century, these priceless instruments were eventually reunited as a set and donated to the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. Since 1982, they have been on loan to the Cleveland Quartet, which gives a series of three concerts at the Corcoran every year.

NEED AN EARLY COPY of TOWN TOPICS? You can buy one at our office, 4 Mercer Street, Wednesday mornings after 9 and at Princeton newsstands after 11.

THE CLEVELAND QUARTET is scheduled to play music by Mozart, Shubert and Brahms this Wednesday at the final concert of the Princeton Summer Chamber Series in Richardson Auditorium.

Two Performers Set At Hyatt Comedy Club

Jeff Dunham, a voice thrower who has worked in a variety of venues, is at Catch a Rising Star at the Hyatt Regency Princeton through Monday. He will be followed by Jack Mayberry, described as having "the look of Bing Crosby, the charm of an old fashioned malt shop, and the overview of a French existentialist," performing August 7 through 12.

Appearing with Mr. Dunham is a cast of "on-stage playmates" that includes Jose, the Mexican jalapeno on a stick; an outrageous monkey; a manic coffee addict; a worm in a wine bottle and his latest character, Peanut. Able to carry on lightning-fast, six-voice conversations with his characters, Mr. Dunham has performed on the stages of Las Vegas, Atlantic City and major concert halls throughout the country. He has also worked with such notables as Bob Hope, George Burns and Milton Berle.

A former radio personality, Mr. Mayberry's creativity and clever ad-libs helped advance him from small town radio to writing, producing and voice-over commercials in Texas that aired locally and nationally. During that time he also began working in clubs around Houston. He quickly became a headline act, and his debut on the Tonight Show last year earned him a second spot on the show this year.

He has also appeared twice on Showtime as well as Fox-TV's Comedy Express and Comic Strip Live.

Performances at Catch a Rising Star are Tuesday through Thursday at 8:30, Friday at 8:30 and 11, Saturday at 7, 9:15 and 11:30, and Sunday at 8:30. Tickets are $8 weekdays and Sundays, $10 Friday and Saturday. For information and reservations call 987-8018, or 987-1234, or to charge, call TicketMaster, (201) 507-8900.

Theatre Guild Season Is Extended One Week

The Theatre Guild of New Jersey, a professional nonprofit theater company, will extend its premiere summer season one week.

Scenes from Americon Life by A.R. Gurney Jr., will be presented in the Rider College Studio Theatre, Lawrenceville, Thursday through Sunday, August 23 through 26. Directed by Lawrenceville resident Penelope Reed, the cast will feature some of the area's best veteran actors, including well-known area performers June Connerton, Herb McAneny and Mari Bernhagen.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday curtains are at 8:30 p.m. The Sunday performance is at 7. Ticket prices are $7, $8 and $10.

For reservations or additional information call the TTG-NJ Box Office at 586-1774.

Free Children's Show In South Brunswick

Children age 4 through 7 are invited to a live performance of Fun Time Theoter Thursday, August 9, at 10 a.m. at the South Brunswick Community Center on New Road, Kendall Park.

An hour-long show presented by Teddy Bear Productions, a theater troupe from Asbury Park, Fun Time Theoter incorporates three fairy tales, "Jack and the Beanstalk," "The Tortoise and the Hare," and "The Three Little Pigs" into short skits with songs, games and audience participation.

For information call 297-4433 between 8:30 and 4:30 weekdays.

AUGUST 6-10 9am-Noon
Vacation Bible School
The Princeton Alliance Church's free Kids Klub Camp, Known this year as ISLANDS IN THE SON, offers a well balanced program that seeks to meet spiritual, physical, social and emotional needs of all students ages 3 1/2 to 8th grade.
KIDS KLUB CAMP also provides a learning environment that includes recreational activities that develop good sportsmanship along with a comprehensive music and Bible program that helps develop new skills and encourage wholesome interpersonal relationships. A staff of dedicated and responsible Christian adults, consisting of professionals, collegians and mature high school students, carries out the free KIDS KLUB CAMP program.
The special program on Friday evening will enable all the students from KIDS KLUB CAMP to sing and perform with puppets and characters from KIDS KLUB CAMP. A special junior high program will be conducted for those in grades 6-8 with special craft projects, activities and field trips. A Women's Bible Seminar and a craft workshop will be held during the KIDS KLUB CAMP. A nursery will be provided if you attend this seminar.

It's Time to Say "Yes" To Senior Citizen Housing

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a resident of the northeastern section of Princeton, I recently attended the Planning Board where the plans for revitalizing the Shopping Center were presented for concept review. After the plans were revealed by the developer, Dana Comfort & Co., there was a short time allotted for both public response and board members' responses. Although more time is obviously needed for community response, I was very disappointed with the initial negative reaction of the community residents.

Addressing the review of the concept, I, for one, have some concerns, but not with the proposed senior citizen housing on the site! (Twenty senior citizen units and 20 "empty-nester" units.) For years I have been saying that the most logical place for seniors to live is near the shopping center where transportation and retail services are readily available. These are real people who deserve the best — not to be placed in some far-off corner of our wonderful community.

They also should not be viewed as undesirable out-of-towners who will bring down the value of local properties. In my opinion they would add to the versatility of this very special and caring community. They could be your father or my mother — and I can only say that my mother, at age 87 with her limited income but her dignity intact, would be an asset to this community!

Yes, I have concerns with the shopping center plans (placement of the new Super Fresh, set-back distances, traffic patterns, closing some of the courtyard off) but they are not with the senior citizen housing. I'm tired of the NIMBY philosopby applied to our section of town. It's time for YIMBY! (YES in my back yard!). Some day we will all be seniors!

A Post 218 'Thank You' For Support for Team

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of Princeton Post 218 I would like to thank the sponsors of our baseball program who stepped forward with considerable help to support a team for the young people of the Princeton community.

Mort O'Shea of the Trust Company of Princeton, Jim Agins of the P.B.A. and John Volwieder of S.T. Peterson made a summer of American Legion baseball possible through their organizations for our players.

This American Legion team was the motivating activity for these young baseball players and will serve to help our community and its individual schools. It was a great summer of baseball and fun which will continue.

Write to Trustees About Palmer Parking

To the Editor, Town Topics:

Your fine newspaper is giving excellent coverage to things that really matter: such as the environment.

Let me suggest that the people concerned about the Edgar Palmer Parking Lot send copies to the Princeton University Board of Trustees directly.

We had a similar hassle at UC-Berkeley several years ago and direct letters turned the trustees around 100%.

Increased Prize Awards At Phillips Mill Exhibit

More than $4500 in cash prizes will be awarded this fall in the 61st Annual Phillips Mill Art Exhibition and Sale, scheduled for September 22 through October 28. In terms of cash awards offered, this will be the Mill's biggest year ever. Both of the exhibit's Special Patrons' Awards have been increased from $300 to $500. In addition, the exhibit's five Patrons' Awards have each been increased to $300.

Jurors for the 1990 exhibition are Anthony-Petr Gorny (prints), Douglas Wiltraut (oils), Rhoda Yanow (pastels/watercolors) and Evelyn Keyser and Jonathon Shahn.

Artists living within a 25-mile radius of New Hope are invited to enter the competition. The deadline for entries is September 8. To request a prospectus for the exhibit, write to the Phillips Mill Art Exhibit, P.O. Box 745, New Hope, Pa. 18938.

Watercolor Entries Sought

The Gallery at Mercer County Community College has announced a call for entries for the 21st annual Garden State Watercolor Society juried exhibition. The show will be on display in the gallery from September 6 through October 6.

The exhibition will be juried by watercolorist Charles Dunn of New York City and Roberta Carter Clark of Little Silver, who is a past president of the New Jersey Watercolor Society. More than $3,500 in prizes will be awarded, including the $1,000 Dagmar H. Tribble Memorial Award.

Entries must be delivered to The Gallery on Friday, August 24, between 5 and 8 p.m., or on Saturday, August 25, between 10 a.m. and noon. Each artist is limited to one entry painted within the last two years. Only original watercolor paintings are acceptable. There is a $15 entry fee.

To receive an entry prospectus, or for more information about the exhibition, call Randal Salewski, curator of The Gallery, at 586-4800, extension 588.

A collection of work by 15 contemporary sculptors may be seen in an outdoor exhibit at La Paix Sculpture Garden, 22 Richey Place, Trenton, during July and August. They are in a variety of media, including bronze, iron, wood, steel, stone and synthetic fibers.

The gallery will arrange for slide presentations of the artists' works, as well as studio visits. Small informal talks in the garden are also being arranged.

Ongoing exhibitors both at La Paix Sculpture Garden in Trenton and The Williams Collection Gallery in Princeton are Benjamin Akrong, Beth Beitel, Bright Bimpong, William Bock, Jerome Collins, Richard Gerster, Gyuri Hollosy, Frederick Morante, George Pissaro, Liz Quisquard, Ernest Schlieben, Ronald Street, Peter Vanni, and Glenn Zweygardt.

A one-person exhibition of works by Anne Heimann will be at the Conant Gallery, Educational Testing Service, from August 9 through September 12.

The artist's mixed-media drawings explore nature, the environment, and mythology through the use of symbolism.

Gallery hours are 9 to 4 weekdays.

County College Gallery Is Seeking Volunteers

The Gallery at Mercer County Community College is looking for individuals to staff the facility during operating hours. A variety of hours are available. The Gallery showcases the work of local and regional artists. The 1990 Mercer County Artists Show, an annual juried exhibit, is currently on display.

The Gallery is located on the second floor of the Audio Visual Building on the college's West Windsor campus. Persons interested in volunteering should call George Schwartz at 586-4800, extension 712.

Exhibits

The Gallery at Mercer County Community College is presenting the work of four alumni in its latest exhibition, which will continue through August 31.

The four are Sally Brennan of Plainsboro, who is showing sculpture; Daniel DiPierro of Jamesburg, showing computer-generated art; Judith Schulte of Princeton Junction, showing oil painting; and Tim Nohe of Baltimore, Md., with a photo installation.

While at MCCC, Ms. Brennan received the Albert E. Kahn memorial scholarship. She has a bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania and a master of fine arts from Brooklyn College, where she also earned a graduate fellowship for excellence.

Ms. Schulte has studied with MCCC's Mel Leipzig for the past three years, and with Virginia Seitz of West Palm Beach, Fla. from 1968 to 74. She has a bachelor's degree from the Philadelphia College of Art.

Mr. Nohe studied journalism and painting at Bucks County Community College, and photography at MCCC, where he received an associate's degree in 1986. He earned his bachelor's degree in photography from the Maryland Institute, College of Art.

Mr. DiPierro graduated from MCCC last June. While at Mercer he focused his studies on computer art and animation. He has designed and created animated logos for a variety of clients, including ESPN.

The Gallery is located on the second floor of the Audio Visual Building, on the college's West Windsor campus. Hours are 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 5 to 8 p.m. on Thursday.

Disappointed, But Not Discouraged, Post 218 Team Already Looking Ahead to Better Season Next Year

Tom Parker must have answered the question dozens of times.

How does it feel to have lost every single game in your first season as manager of newcomer Princeton Post 218 in the Mercer County American Legion League?

"Disappointed. I would have liked to have won a few games," replied Parker. "But realistic enough to realize it was a tough league we were in. Some of the teams had college-level players. Not to make excuses but we were a very young and inexperienced team. It's still all uphill from here but I think we're going to make it.

"My whole philosophy has aways been to go with the positive attitude," said the 38-year-old Parker for whom sports has always been a large part of his life. (See box.)

"I never expect to lose but if you give it your best shot and still lose — that's always been part of the game.

"It is better for us to be playing than not playing. It was a trial for us just to get into the league. Now that we've gotten a season under our belt it will be better for the players next year.

"I see nothing but plusses ahead. Obviously, I would like to have won all the games. But nobody got discouraged.

SPORTS

They're all returning. There are no seniors on the team."

Parker seemed most pleased about the team's dogged perseverance. Despite the strain — and embarrassment — of losing every game, "we didn't lose a single soul," he said proudly.

Parker ventured that Post 218 was probably the youngest team in the league. One player, Tim Hannan, will not be 14 until this month. Most of the players on the 20-member squad attend Princeton and Montgomery high schools and Princeton Day School. Three attend Hun School, one Notre Dame and one, Hannan, attends Rutgers Prep.

"There is a lot of untapped talent there," insisted Parker. "We played against some good teams; they learned a lot of baseball."

Predicted Parker: "Next year we'll do better. Definitely. For certain, we'll get that first win. We have some real talent."

One of the highlights of the season for the team, said Parker, was Matt Baum being picked for the Mercer County all-star team as a designated hitter. "He proved to be worthy."

In the last two games of the season, Baum, who will be a senior next year at PHS, was four-for-four against Princeton Post 76 and three-for-four against Hightstown. He ended with a .316 average, tops for the team.

Co-captains of the team were catcher Joe Hayek of Montgomery High and Ben Stentz of PHS.

"My iron man," said Parker of Hayek. "He caught every game, played every inning. He was also a tremendous clutch hitter. He didn't have any break. Considering he hit as well as he did, he's a tremendous player."

"My steadying force," said Parker of Stentz. The feisty Stentz would — and did — do anything Parker asked of him and was a standout defensive player in center field. He also pitched, "which is pretty good because, primarily, he was not a pitcher," said Parker.

Around the Horn

Parker was unstinting in his praise for his infield. "The right side of the defense (Chris Healey, first base, and Aaron Cooper, second) I'll match up with anybody's," said Parker. "Both were nominations for the all-star team." Healey and Cooper are teammates on the Princeton High team.

Shortstop was Hun School's Kevin Shaffer, who, said Parker, "played steady at short; he hung in there."

Danny Wilson, one of the season's best surprises this spring for Hun mentor Bill McQuade, was just as pleasant a surprise to Parker. "Danny can be anything he wants to be," said

Did you ever hear how Ted Williams became the last man to hit .400 in a major league baseball season? ... It happened in 1941 ... Williams went into the last 2 games of that season hitting an even .400 — and he could have sat out those 2 games to insure himself finishing at .400 ... But he wanted to play — even though he ran the risk of having his average fall below .400 ... Williams, with all the pressure, got an amazing 6 hits in his last 8 at bats, and wound up batting .406 for the season!

Parker of the 15-year-old Wilson, who belted a grand slam against Post 76 in the final week. "He has tremendous potential." Baum also played a lot of third base for Post 218. "He's my hit man; I can't say enough about him," said Parker.

Parker platooned Matt Radtke of Hun and Scott Feldman of PDS in left field, with Feldman also doing some pitching. Dave Wise of PDS took over in center when Stentz got hurt and Silas Massey of PHS, Matt Sheridan of Montgomery High and Wise all played in right field. Nicknamed "The Rocket," Massey was the fastest player on the team, said Parker.

Colin Apse and Darrin Horangic, both from PHS, Baum, Wilson and Stentz comprised the mound staff. At 15, Horangic was one of the youngest players on the staff, but he was, saya Parker, "All baseball. He had all the antics down that seasoned pitchers do. He was never flustered on the mound."

Others on the team were Dave Gorman from South Brunswick High, Joe Varner of Montgomery, Terry Wooding and Paul Gisondi of PHS and Paul Procaccini of Notre Dame.

Procaccini was a versatile player. He did an excellent joh as a reserve shortstop, finished out the aeason at second, played the outfield and also pitched, reported Parker.

A Lot Deserve Thanks

As In the start of any project, a number of persons — some unsung — deserve credit for making the Post 218 team a reality.

At the top, says Parker, is Post 218 athletic officer and former commander Rick Skipworth. "He was n tremendous force in getting it going," said Parker. "Without him, it wouldn't have gotten off the ground."

Last spring, when it appeared that the league managers were going to renege on allowing Post 218 to join the league, citing an "adverse impact" on league scheduling, and after the fledgling team had met nll the requirements, Skipworth wrote to Legion officials on both the state and national levels. He took his case to the papers. When nn ultimatum came down from state chairman Bill Adelhein — let Post 218 In or forfeit any right to participate In state tournaments — Post 218 got the green light.

Jim Healey is another. When Healey first broached the question, "Whnt do you think of the possibility of getting n legion team?" Parker replied "I think it would be great."

After that, recalled Parker, "You couldn't keep him away." Healey, he said, did a lot of paper pushing and participation in behind-the-scenes negotintions to get the team going.

The sponsors, Mort O'Shea of The Trust Company of Princeton, Jim Volwieder of S.T. Peterson, and Detective Jim Agins of the Princeton PBA 130, contributed funds to get the team rolling. The father of player Scott Feldman donated some equipment.

Jim Ransohoff, who had experience managing in the Babe Ruth League, signed on as Parker's assistant manager. "He was a tremendous asset," said Parker. "I appreciate the assistance he gave me, his tireless energy."

Finally, "I want to thank all the parents who came out to see the team and support them," said Parker. "I hope to see them next year."

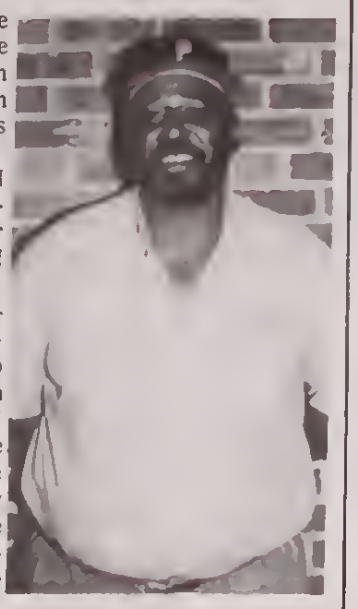
As for Parker, "I'll be back next year to manage," he promised.

"Something I Always Wanted"

When Tom Parker had the opportunity to manage the newly-formed Princeton Post 218 American Legion team this year, he was ready.

"It was something I aspired to get into," recalled Parker. "I said a number of times it was something I always wanted."

After attending Northeastern University in Boston, Parker returned to Princeton. "I went though all the different leagues." He atarted coaching at the Little League level at the Paul Robeson Community Center. After meeting Little League director Clark Lennon, Parker coached the Century 21 team. Then he became involved with Bob Rumer in the Babe Ruth League.



Tom Parker
He Got His Wish

From there Parker continued on to the Princeton Senior Babe Ruth League, coaching a team sponsored by the Princeton PBA. In terms of age, reported Parker, the Senior Babe Ruth is equlvalent to legion hall. "Now here I am In the Legion League."

An employee of Princeton Universlty today, Parker graduated from Princeton High in 1970. He played football for the Little Tigers for four years, the first three as a defensive tackle, his senior year as a nose guard and fullback. His final year, incidentally, was the last year for PHS coach Dick Wood, who had begun his high school football career at PHS in 1928 as a guard.

A junior on Parker's senior team was his brother, Lawrence Parker, who went on to become an outstanding fullback and linebacker. Lawrence is currently the head wrestling coach and assistant football coach at Trenton High. The Parker brothers played together for two years.

In hla junior year, Parker wrestled for PHS coach Tom Murray in the 178-pound class. Parker recalled that at 178 he was amall for a defensive tackle in comparison to some of the linemen from other schools.

In his senior year, he went out for track and also played basketball for Larry Ivan as a forwnrd. "Basketball was not my forte," smiled Parker, "but I played."

Princeton Post 76 Is 2-0 In Legion State Tourney

Perfect together: Princeton Post 76 and the American Legion State Tournament.

Post 76, which had to struggle at the end to gain the fifth and final playoff spot in regular season play in the Mercer County League, is leading the way at the District One playoffs at Memorial Park in Linden.

In the quarterfinals Sunday, the running game espoused by Post 76 manager Larry Bender was in high gear. Post 76 made good on nine of 12 stolen base attempts and combined its freewheeling on the base paths with seven walks and some key hits for an 8-5 victory over Flemington. In its opening game in the 32-team state tourney, Post 76 took an 11-0 lead against North Arlington on its way to a final 11-6 triumph.

By remaining in the winners' bracket, Post 76 was scheduled to oppose the Greg Luzinski-coached Medford team earlier this week. The winner will qualify for the state tournament final round, which begins Saturday and which will be held this year at Mercer Park.

After opening wins, Mercer County's two other teams in the tournament dropped to the losers' bracket in the double-elimination event.

In District Three action at New Brunswick, Hamilton Post 31 (19-9) failed to hold an early 6-0 lead and suffered a 9-6 loss to Hoboken. In District Four play at Mercer Park, Broad Street Park was defeated, 12-4, by Haddon Heights.

"How We Got Here"

Flemington outhit Post 76, 13-7, including two monster solo homers by centerfielder Todd Tapper, but the losers could not match Post 76's aggressiveness. Said Flemington manager Jake Manning, "They were the most aggressive team we faced all year." "We've been doing that all year; that's how we got here," said Bender.

Post 76 gave Flemington an early glimpse of what was to come when leadoff batter Matt McClenahan walked, stole second, moved to third on a ground-out and came home on a wild pitch by starting pitcher Matt Woodward. Post 76 added single runs in the second and third innings off just one hit.

With the score tied at three in the fifth, Post 76 erupted for five runs, bunching four of its seven hits. After Greg Papciack and Peter Prodanov had singled, Craig Schwartz doubled both home with Post 76's lone extra-base hit (Flemington, in contrast, connected for four doubles and those two homers). Brent Papciack's single plated the third and fourth runs. The fifth run was vintage, hell-for-leather Post 76. Winning pitcher Jeff Skalinski missed a bunt in attempting to move along Mike Andolina and Jason Rizzo, who had walked. But that didn't faze the Post 76 base runners, who took off anyway for an uncontested double steal. Skalinski took advantage by following up with an RBI grounder.

Flemington rallied for two runs in the ninth and had the bases loaded when Bender brought in Prodanov, who got Flemington shortstop Darren Bush to ground out to end the game.

The win was the sixth straight for Post 76, which improved to 19-9, and the fifth win for Skalinski in eight decisions. Flemington lost its sixth in 20 outings.

First Game the Key

Before the start of the tournament, Bender had predicted, "This first game will be the key."

With that, Post 76 went out and scored in five of the first six innings against North Arlington (20-5) to take a commanding 11-0 lead. With two out in the first (McClenahan having been cut down at home plate for the first out) Schwartz timed a change-up and sent the ball over the left-centerfield fence to give Post 76 a 3-0 lead. "The whole team picked up after Craig's homer," agreed Bender. "That was the key. We all swung the bats well today."

Two innings later, Greg Schwartz made it 4-0 when he connected for a home run off losing pitcher Pat Cantalupo. Everyone was hitting, as Post 76 collected 14 hits. It scored four more runs in the fifth when Greg Papciack singled home a run, Schwartz doubled in two more and winning pitcher Shawn Murphy also had an RBI

PHS Eleven to Play Ten Games

The football schedule that new coach Keith Wadsworth and the Princeton High football team will tackle this fall includes ten games, one more than in previous years, two against newcomers, one night game and the revival of a town rivalry. Only three of the ten will be played at home.

The Little Tigers will open up September 8 at New Brunswick, one of the two new teams on the schedule from outside Mercer County. The other is a September 22 meeting at South Brunswick High.

The night game is a Friday affair on October 26 that pits PHS against McCorristin in a game starting at 7 on the Iron Mikes' gridiron. The final game of the season brings back, after a lapse of many years, a contest with town rival Hun School.

The complete 1990 schedule: September 8, New Brunswick, away; 15, Nottingham; 22, South Brunswick, away; 28, Lawrence, away; October 6, Ewing; 13, Hamilton, away; 20, Notre Dame; 26, McCorristin, away; November 3, West Windsor, away, and 10, Hun, away. The Lawrence and McCorristin games are Friday contests.

single. Two more runs in the sixth put the game out of reach.

Schwartz, who batted .454 in the two-game sweep of Bordentown in the regular season playoff, led the attack with his homer nnd a pair of douhles and seven runs batted in. McClenahan, Prodanov, and Greg and Brent Papciack each had two hits. "They hit right through the lineup," agreed a shell-shocked Tom DiCara, the Arlington manager.

Murphy allowed only two hits in the seven innings he worked, striking out five. "He pitched a great game," said Bender, who nonetheless sent in Mark McKenzie when Arlington finally broke through to score two runs in the eighth. After the losers solved McKenzie for another run in the ninth, Bender called on Mark Andolina to get the final three outs. Andolina gave up five hits nnd three runs but Post 76 had stolen the game long before.

The win was Murphy's fourth without a loss. He used an effective curve and moved the ball around n lot to get ahead of most Arlington batters. Cantalupo had entered the game with a 9-1 record for the losers.

It's Showdown Time In Women's Softball

"We haven't been mathematically eliminated but we needed that Grove game last week," observed Steve Ficarro Auto Body manager Bob Smyth last week, as the Women's Softball League prepared to play its final regular season games.

The Princeton-based Ficaro's club followed up its 9-3 loss to Grove Plumbing with a satisfying 9-2 victory over its nemesis, Dot's Girls, but schedule and the numbers are against Ficarro's — and the source of that information is none other than Smyth himself.

Currently, Three Seasons and Grove are tied for the lead with identical 21-4 records. Each has two games left to play. After a game against each other, Three Seasons will finish up against Trenton Ortho, while Grove will end against Larkin's Gulf. If form holds true, hoth should win their final games.

"We have one game in hand," commented Smyth. Ficarro's was scheduled to oppose Miller Lite and then finish up on Thursday with a doubleheader against Dot's Girls at Mercer Park. Starting times are 8:30 and 9:30.

With one more left to play, Ficarro's is a game and a half behind the leaders at 19-5. A human computer with numbers and league permutations, Smyth figures, "Assuming we win all three, we will end up 22-5 — and likely to finish in a tie for second place with the loser of the Grove-Three Seasons game."

If that happens, reports Smyth, there will have to be a playoff for second place because trophies are awarded to the first and second-place teams. A playoff would also be needed to determine positions for post-season contests.

Jinx Is Broken

"They were a jinx against us. They owned us," said Smyth of Dot's Girls but the jinx was buried Thursday in the wake of 18 Ficarro hits and a 9-2 victory. "We just blew them away," said Smyth.

Donna Nicholson celebrated her birthday by connecting for a home run and a double in driving in three runs. Also banging out two hits each for the victors were Grace Durand, Dee Discavage, Diane Kelley, Cee Aerstin (including a triple and three RBIs and winning pitcher Louann Slocum-Robioux.

As for the key contest with Grove earlier in the week, Smyth commented: "Grove played very well, especially on defense. We played about average. The Grove pitcher made three outstanding plays, robbing us up the middle." A bad-hop single with the bases loaded netted Grove three runs. "We just couldn't catch a break," said Smyth.

In essence, the game was over early for Ficarro's. Tied at two in the second, Grove came right back with five runs in its half of the second to go up 7-2. Ficarro's could manage only one more run after that.

Charlotte Damaseo continued to wield a hot bat for Ficarro's with two hits in two at bats. Unfortunately, Damasco was the only story in the Ficarro's offense, although the losers did connect for a total of seven hits. Grove banged out 12 off losing pitcher Slocum-Robidoux. "They put them together when they needed 'em," said Smyth.

Soccer Tryouts Scheduled

The Princeton TADS girls' traveling soccer team will hold tryouts for players born after January 1, 1981 on Saturday morning from 9 to 11; Thursday, August 9, 5:30 to 7 and Saturday August 11, 3 to 5 at the Washington Road fields in Princeton.

In addition to Princeton residents, the tryouts are open to residents of Montgomery, Kingston, Cranbury, Plainsboro and West Windsor. For information call Clare Baxter at 452-2580, days, or Michael Solomon at 924-8960, evenings.

Bulletin Notes

Princeton Alliance Church will hold a Bible seminar and craft workshop for women August 6 to 11 from 9 to noon daily at 4315 Route 1, Monmouth Juoction. All area women are invited, and a nursery will be provided.

The seminar forms part of the Church's Daily Vacation Bible School, "Island in the Son," under the direction of the Rev. Robert R. Cushman, executive pastor and Milla Wilkes-Davis, director of music and drama. Mr. Cushman has directed Bible schools in central New Jersey for the past 13 years.

A special Junior High program will be conducted for those in grades 6 to 8 with field trips, craft projects and activities geared to their interests.

The program will culminate on Friday evening, August 10, when all students from "Island in the Son" will sing and perform with the "Island" puppets.

"Island in the Son" will offer a balanced program that seeks to meet spiritual, physical, social and emotional needs of students age 3½ to eighth grade. There will be recreational activities along with music and Bible programs. A staff consisting of professionals, collegians and mature high school students carries out the program, which is open to children and women of all faiths. There is no registration fee.

Further information is available from the church office at 799-9000.

The Griggstown Reformed Church will hold its annual Harvest Home Festival on the church grounds at 1261 Canal Road in the Griggstown section of Franklin Township on Saturday, August 18, from 4 to 9 p.m. rain or shine.

There will be games for all ages and everyone is a winner. The Blawenburg Band, which is celebrating its 100th year, will entertain. Food will be served, with a menu featuring sausage sandwicbes, hamburgers, hot dogs, cole slaw, corn, and homemade desserts.

For shoppers there will be tables offering plants, handmade articles, baked goods, jellies, jams, pickles, relishes, and other homemade items. Bob Jorgensen, Bud Slover and Margaret Smith head the committee for the Harvest Home Festival.

The Continental Singers, a Christian musical group, will give a concert from their 1990 world tour on Tuesday at 7:30 at the Montgomery Evangelical Free Church in Belle Mead.

The Continentals are now in their 23rd year and are continuing their outreach with "Hold Up the Light", a oew program of inspiration and worship. The concert will feature 24 vocalists, plus instrumentalists and technicians from all over the United States, Canada and tbe world. Call the church office at (201) 874-4634 for directions and additional information.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph C. Williamson, Dean of Princeton University Chapel, will preach Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service at the chapel.

Slides of the trip sponsored by Nassau Presbyterian Church to East and West Berlin, Leipzig, Heidelberg, Oberammergau and the Passion Play, Zurich and Geneva last May, will be shown Sunday from 9 to 9:45 at the adult education hour. The program is entitled "The Footsteps of the Reformers through NPC's Eyes."

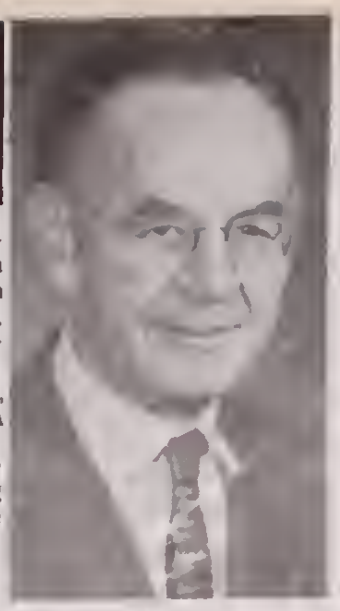
OBITUARIES

Albert Rose, 80, internationally known television pioneer and former research scientist at RCA Laboratories, died at Princeton Medical Center July 26 after a long illness. He lived at 292 Stockton Street, and was a member of the RCA technical staff for 40 years.

Dr. Rose has been called the Father of Electronic Imaging because of his invention of the Orthicon and image orthicon television camera tubes and his landmark papers on the performance limits of electronic sensors, the human eye, and photographic film. The image orthicon was developed during the war for military purposes, and later served as the electronic eye for all television cameras in the United States throughout the initial 20 years of broadcasting.



Albert Rose

After the war, Dr. Rose led a group which built the first photoconductive vidicon sensor, a class of tube now used for studio broadcasting and for high-definition television. In 1955, he helped establish a branch of the RCA Laboratories in Zurich, Switzerland, serving as its first director. He returned to the David Sarnoff Research Center at Princeton in 1957 as a Fellow of the Technical Staff and a leader of the theoretical group. He was the author of three technicol books and mony papers.

Upon his retirement from RCA in 1975, Dr. Rose was appointed a Fairchild Distinguished Scholar at the California Institute of Technology, and later visiting professor at Stanford University. Hebrew University in Jerusalem, Boston University, and distinguished visiting profesor at the Polytechnic Institute in Mexico City, ond the University of Delaware.

After returning to Princeton, he worked as a visiting scientist at the Exxon Research Laboratories and later at the Chronar Corporotion. He continued to participate in technical conferences ond to present the "Albert Rose Electronic Imager of the Year" award, which had been created in his honor in 1986 by the Institute for Graphic Communications.

Dr. Rose was a Fellow of the American Physicol Society and of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and o member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Societe Suisse de Physique. He received the Morris Liebmann Award of the Institute of Radio Engineers (now IEEE) and was co-recipient of the Television Broadcasters Award, both in 1945, as well as the Journal Award of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers in 1946. He also received the first of the RCA David Sarnoff Outstanding Achievement Awards in Science and Engineering in 1958, cited for "basic contributions to the understanding and utilization of photoelectric phenomena," as well as the David Sarnoff Gold Medal of the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers "for basic contributions to the development of the Orthicon, fmage Orthicon, ond Vidicon television pickup tubes."

He was elected to the National Academy of Engineering in 1975 and was awarded the Edison Medal of the IEEE for "contributions to television camera tubes, photoconductivity and human vision" in 1979. In 1989 Rochester Institute for Technology awarded him an honorary degree.

Dr. Rose was born in New York City. He received his A.B. and Ph.D. degree from Cornell University in 1935, and joined RCA soon afterwards.

New Restaurant Planned At Forrestal Village

Marriott Hotels and Village One Associates Limited partnership have begun construction on a new bar/restaurant, Characters Bar & Grill. This joint venture is scheduled to open later this summer in Princeton Forrestal Village.

"Characters Bar & Grill was developed based on the new decade lifestyle changes of young American families who are more sensitive to the price and service aspects of casual, neighborhood dining," said Bill Hulbert, vice president of restaurant and bar development for Marriott Hotels and Resorts.

Characters promises to be a unique, casual and upbeat freestanding operation. Its decor will be photographs and other memorabilia of past and present entertainment characters. A lighter fare as well as grilled menu items will be offered at reasonable prices. The restaurant will seat 85 for lunch and dinner and have accommodations available for private parties for 150 people.

In a setting of sweeping lawns, picturesque stone walls and ageless trees, this handsome brick Georgian Colonial overlooks Princeton's beautiful Carnegie Lake. From a gentle hill, the view is enhanced by sailboats in the summer, skaters in the winter and the exciting crew races in the spring. A columned portico opens to the wide center hall and a vista of dramatic space with high ceilings, decorative moldings, French doors and many windows, creating light-filled rooms. A graceful stairway soars to the third floor. The living room has a marble fireplace with a medallion above. Adjoining is a library also with fireplace. The formal dining room with elegant appointments, charming sun porch, kitchen, butler's pantry and powder room complete the first floor. On second, a columned sitting area separates the master bedroom with bath and a suite of two rooms and bath. The third floor has two charming bedrooms and bath. A huge panelled room with fireplace on the lower level offers space for recreation. In all — a gracious house, elegantly restored, offering a pleasant lifestyle for living and entertaining.

HUNTER ROAD

"Breathtaking" — a natural reaction to the beauty and unexpected delight when finding this charming garden hidden away on this quiet street in western Princeton. Tall trees, luxuriant plantings and flowering shrubs give complete seclusion throughout the year to the terraces of old brick and the shaded lawn. In the midst of it all — a dove gray Colonial of hand split shingles. The original house consisted of a front-to-back living room with fireplace, dining room opening to screened porch, kitchen, three bedrooms and 2½ baths. Expanded, it now includes a larger kitchen with breakfast area, family room/office, two more bedrooms and bath. Now it can accommodate a larger family or create an apartment. On the lower level, a hobby room. In all — a flexible house adaptable to several lifestyles. $550,000

BATTLE ROAD

In perhaps Princeton's finest residential location between the Graduate College and the Institute for Advanced Study is a most attractive Mathews-built Colonial on a quiet and beautifully groomed half acre. A center entry hall adjoins a step-down living room with bay window and fireplace, formal dining room w/fireplace, solarium/study w/bluestone floor and views through wide windows to the terrace and garden, plus a kitchen, breakfast room, first floor bedroom and bath, and powder room. Upstairs, there is a master suite with its own dressing room and bath, plus three other bedrooms and three baths. For the gardener, a small modern greenhouse off the dining room plus a heated potting shed off the two-car garage. Offered at $895,000

NESHANIC

A restored Colonial with unusual charm combined with every modern convenience. Exposed beams and brick walls and beautifully refinished wide pine floors are among the features. Spacious living room, powder room, all new contemporary kitchen-dining room with top-of-the-line appliances, adjoining study. Family room with bay window and country views. Upstairs, three bedrooms, full bath with laundry closet, sitting alcove. All located in the Neshanic historic district on a bucolic half acre bordered by a stream. $225,000

A VERY SPECIAL OFFERING

Come look at this Nineteenth Century Charmer on Pine Street in Princeton Borough. The renovation is almost complete but there still may be time to pick colors, etc. Architect designed and historically sensitive, the renovation will add another gem to what is fast becoming one of Princeton's most picturesque streets. The first floor includes an entry foyer; a bright, spacious living room with fireplace; dining room with new bay window; a completely new window-wrapped kitchen; study; and powder room. Upstairs, a master bedroom with new bay window and its own new bath and walk-in closet plus two other bedrooms with a hall bath. Outdoors there will be hedges and tasteful landscaping enclosing a garden area. One-car garage plus additional off-street parking. Central air. All within a short walk to the University, Nassau Street, Davidson's, etc. $368,000

BAYARD LANE

Lovely third floor condominium in historic Victorian house. Large living room, one bedroom, kitchen and bath. $165,000

ARMOUR ROAD

Spacious one floor brick and frame contemporary with loads of excellent living space plus a rarity for pleasure or exercise — an indoor-outdoor pool. Living & dining rooms w/sliding doors to porch & patio; family room & den; efficient kitchen w/adjoining bedroom and bath; 3 more bedrooms, 2 baths; plus a separate master bedroom wing w/its own luxurious bath. All on an acre. $875,000

TOUCH OF CLASS

From the manicured lawns and crisp new white siding to the most tastefully decorated interior, this Pennington charmer has been maintained with great energy and care. Living room w/fireplace, dining room, eat-in kitchen, large family room plus 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths. Large partially finished basement, oversized garage. $199,500
